JAPANESE PLACE MINES UNDER MISSION HOUSES

Not Mad at the Evangelists, but Want to Conceal Their Operations Against Government Buildings—Pittsburghers in Grave Danger.

Japanese opposition to the terms of the peace treaty is jeopardizing the lives of American missionaries. Not that the Japanese bear any ill-will toward the missionaries, but they are unconcerned about sacrificing the evangelists' lives if it is necessary to inflict injury upon the Japanese government. This is disclosed in letters received in Pittsburgh yesterday from the Rev. William H. Erskine.

THE REV. W. H. ERSKINE.

MRS. W. H. ERSKINE.

Mr. Erskine, a son of Hugh Erskine of Knoxville, is a missionary of the Christian church in Akata. The first attempt to destroy the government buildings there was discovered when a trench in which had been placed a train and fuse was found beneath the house. A few days later a fire broke out in the house next door, and a similar mine was discovered there, all leading toward the official buildings. The Japanese sought to turn attention from their real object by placing the mines beneath the houses, and especially that of the missionary. In many places the people are on the verge of starvation because of the heavy taxes, and are compelled to deny themselves rice, the cheapest article of food to them and the most staple commodity in their markets.

Mr. and Mrs. Erskine, who have been in Japan since last fall, were at the time of the discovery of the mines at one of the resorts frequented by the missionaries, where schools of methods have been established for the summer months. Mr. Erskine hurried home, several days' journey by jinrickisha, when he received the news of the repeated attempts to destroy the huge government buildings, which are very near his home. Mr. and Mrs. Erskind were married last summer, sailing for their foreign mission post in Japan in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Erskine are still in the hills, where many missionaries have assembled because of the riots in the cities.

FUSION SLATE MAKERS ARE NOT IN HARMONY

Are Quarreling Over the Three Important Propositions.

GUFFEY FOR BERRY

Insists the Citizens Should Indorse Prohibition-Democratic Candidate.

CLARK OFFERS TO RESIGN

The Democrats and Citizens are having trouble over the slating of the balance of the fusion ticket. In addition to a lack of harmony concerning the naming of candidates for commissioner and prothonotary, there is a serious difference of opinion about the state treasurership.

Col. J. M. Guffey thinks the Citizens should agree to put W. H. Berry, the Democratic nominee for state treasurer, at the head of their ticket. He argues that in other years since the union of forces of the Citizens and Democrats, there has not been serious objection offered to the indorsement of Republican state candidates by the Citizens. This time the colonel thinks Democracy has a chance and wants the Prohibition-Democratic nominee placed at the head of the Citizens column.

Bigelow Wants Plummer.

Director Bigelow, owner of the Citizens machine, is opposed to an indorsement of Berry. He believes his ticket will draw more votes if J. Lee Plummer, the Republican nominee, is indorsed. The two slating committees gave the question considerable attention yesterday, but failed to reach a decision.

Alexander Dempster is being put forward by the Citizens as a running mate of James A. Clark, the Democratic nominee for commissioner. The Democrats do not take kindly to the Dempster candidacy. In their endeavor to have him dropped they argue his labor record as a coal operator will be against him. During the discussion yesterday Clark said he was willing to resign if the Citizens could find a stronger Democrat to go on the ticket. Recently Clark has brought in about three good oil wells and his friends say that his wealth has made him indifferent about continuing on the ticket. Col. Guffey will not agree to his retirement, however, as he wants him to remain as manager of the local Democracy.

Looking for Golden Sheaves.

So far 12 names have been submitted as candidates for prothonotary and commissioner. The Democrats have declined to indorse any of the men mentioned for prothonotary. The conference has adjourned until tomorrow, when Bigelow hopes to have the Democrats accept Dempster. As one of the Democrats puts it, "Bigelow wants Dempster, as he believes the coal man will bring some golden sheaves to the campaign treasury."

The Democratic state executive committee is to meet in Philadelphia today. The meeting is to arrange the Berry itinerary. Much objection has been caused by the booking of Berry to make speeches in Democratic communities under the auspices of the Prohibition party. Arrangements will also be made for the opening of sub-state headquarters in Philadelphia, Erie and Scranton.

RUNAWAY ROLLER CAUSES EXPLOSION

Two Men Badly Burned When Engine Smashed a Gas Main Near Washington.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 20.—The breaking of a large gas main by a runaway steam roller caused an explosion and fire on the new county road near Hickory this evening, in which two men were seriously injured. The injured are:

E. PIERE, engineer of the steam roller, badly burned about the face and body; taken to Hickory.

MIKE CRADY, badly burned and bruised about face and body; taken to Hickory.

The men were employed by Seleki & Company, contractors of Pittsburgh, who are building the new road. Piere, who was in charge of the big steam roller, lost control of the machine, which run away and smashed an eight-inch gas main at the side of the road. The escaping gas caught fire from the blaze under the engine boiler and the flames burned the engineer and Crady, who was nearby.

WILL CITE THE COUNTESS.

Thaw Heirs to Be Asked to Ratify Desired Exchange of Coal Lands to H. C. Frick Coal Company.

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—In the orphans court this morning attorneys for the William Thaw estate presented a petition asking leave to exchange 225 acres of coal land belonging to the Thaw estate and situated in Mt. Pleasant township, to the H. C. Frick Coke Company for an equal acreage. The purpose of the exchange is to facilitate mining operations.

A citation was issued to the heirs and legatees of the late William Thaw of Pittsburgh. The countess of Yarmouth, formerly Miss Alice Thaw, will receive notice in accordance with the court order.

PARDON WITHHELD FROM HIM, HE TURNS BACK TO CRIME

Leroy Shear, Once the Subject of President Lincoln's Mercy, Is Released from One Prison Only to Face Another.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Leroy Shear, the notorious forger, was released from Clinton prison at Dannemora today and was immediately rearrested and turned over the the police authorities of Massachusetts, who started with him for Boston, where he is charged with swindling R. H. White & Co.

Shear, who is 67 years of age, has had a remarkable career. In 1863 he deserted from the federal army, was captured and while a prisoner at Utica, N. Y., poisoned two of his guards in an attempt to escape. For this he was tried by court-martial and sentenced to be shot.

On the day set for his execution Shear received a reprieve from President Lincoln and before it expired succeeded in escaping. On the day of his escape he was pardoned by the president, but did not know of it until years after. Upon his escape he went to Europe where he remained for several years, finally returning to the United States and settling in Vermont, where he led an exemplary life and secured a position in a bank.

On being recommended for a federal appointment at St. Albans, Vt., Shear went to Washington and asked President Hayes for the pardon which had years before been granted to him. The president, on learning his history, refused to give him the appointment and the people of the town, upon learning the reason, turned against him and he lost his position in the bank.

While living in Vermont Shear was a delegate to the Republican national convention at Chicago which nominated President Garfield. He has since served two terms for grand larceny and forgery.

MR. ROOSEVELT WOULD PAY BACK THE MONEY

Consults Close Friends on the Insurance Contributions.

ADVICE OF LEADERS

Messrs. Root, Choate, Lodge and Cortelyou Spend Night at Sagamore Hill.

ALSO WANTS A NEW LAW

Chief Magistrate Will Ask Congress to Regulate Contributions and Expenditures for Political Purposes—Money Can Be Easily Raised to Reimburse Insurance Companies.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Four of the men closest to President Roosevelt's administration are in conference at Sagamore Hill tonight on the subject of the attitude the administration should take toward the illegal contributions of corporations in political campaigns. The men President Roosevelt has called in consultation are Secretary of State Root, Rufus B. Choate, Senator Lodge and George B. Cortelyou, postmaster general.

President Roosevelt has taken the disclosures of the New York Life investigation very much to heart. The practical politicians have advised him that a candidate should have nothing to do with the campaign contributions and is in no way responsible for their character. But the president, who in his last message to congress pleaded for a federal law to compel the publication of all federal election contributions, feels keenly the use of insurance money as a factor in his election. He believes that the only way to put an end to the use of illegal money in elections is not only not to take it, but to pay it back when it is disclosed, as in the present instance.

Meet in Quiet Manner.

To this end he has summoned George B. Cortelyou, the chairman of the Republican campaign committee; Secretary Root, who knows intimately the machinery of the big insurance companies; Senator Lodge, his personal representative in the senate, and Rufus B. Choate, upon whose legal judgment he relies implicitly. The conference may be said to be a secret one. Mr. Cortelyou came from a neighboring town unannounced. The others arrived on the 5:39 train.

The conference began after dinner and lasted into the morning. The president's advisers spent the night at Sagamore Hill and will leave by a morning train. It is known that the president will ask congress to frame a law after the English model, requiring the chairman of political committees to publish not only the amounts expended, but the names of the contributors and the amounts given.

Would Return Contributions.

But if his advisers approve, it is believed he will go a step farther and pay back to the treasuries of life insurance companies all money contributed by them to the last campaign. It is known that Chairman Cortelyou has a considerable balance on hand and it is thought it will not be difficult to make up the difference should there be one.

President Roosevelt feels that nothing but radical measures can efface a scandal, which he feels more personally than any that have come to his administration. He is urging this view upon his visitors, moreover, as a wise party measure. It is felt that some important administration move is sure to follow tonight's conference.

If the president has his way the $48,000 contributed by the New York Life through J. P. Morgan & Co., and any other life insurance company contributions received during the last campaign, will be returned.

Will Disburse Federal Money.

Robert Martin Boddridge, cashier of the Union National bank of McKeesport, was yesterday appointed disbursing agent of the federal building now being built in that city.

DOGGED HIM FOR MONEY

President of New York Life Sheds Light on the Democratic Campaign.

IS CALLED TO STAND

Tells of Large Sums Paid to Company's Legal Adviser Without Vouchers.

STOUTLY DENIES BOODLING

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, Sept. 20.

John A. McCall, president of the New York Life Insurance Company, was on the rack of the legislative inquisition for nearly two and one-half hours today. He denied the New York Life ever had made political campaign contributions during the period of his presidency, except in the three instances which Mr. Perkins had already detailed, and he could not explain to what account those donations had been charged up.

Mr. McCall volunteered the additional statement that Alton B. Parker, when chairman in this state, had never missed a chance to collect corporation money for campaign purposes, and that even during the national campaign last year the Parker managers—among them some of the very men recently quoted as Mr. McCall's critics—had been a source of continual annoyance to him, dogging him with their solicitations for money.

Mr. McCall denied with vehemence that a dollar of the New York Life's money had ever been used, with his knowledge, in the effort to influence legislation in this or any other state, but admitted that hundreds of thousands of dollars of the company's money had been advanced solely on his order to Andrew Hamilton of the New York Life's law department, and that Mr. Hamilton represents the company in "legislative and taxation" matters in the various states in this country, as well as in Canada.

Money Is Unaccounted For.

Mr. Hughes brought out admissions that $235,000, thus advanced remains unaccounted for, and that it is customary for Mr. Hamilton to report his expenditures exclusively to Mr. McCall, who takes Mr. Hamilton's receipts and vouchers. The witness admitted the company has on record no vouchers for any of these expenditures made by Hamilton and has not had since the beginning of "Judge" Hamilton's connection with it.

Sums aggregating this amount, $235,000, were charged to the home office annex account, with the exception of $36,000, which was carried in the "suspense account." The payments to Andrew Hamilton, aggregating $235,000, were made between December, 1903, and March, 1904.

Just as Mr. McCall was about to be excused for the day he asked the privilege of correcting the popular impression as to his large wealth. He said that he is not in the millionaire class; that the greater part of his estate, if he were to die today, would consist of his life insurance, and that he had never personaly participated in one of the many underwriting syndicates in which the New York Life had realized large profits.

During the entire portion of the session District Attorney Jerome was an interested listener. Before Senator Armstrong rapped for order he and other members of the committee had been in consultation with M. Jerome, but neither they nor the district attorney gave any explanation of his attendance. Mr. Jerome merely remarking his visit had no especial significance. He left the hearing before noon and did not hear much of Mr. McCall's most interesting testimony.

Gets Back at Parker.

The climax of the inquiry was reached when Mr. McCall declared the soliciting of funds for campaign purposes were not confined to the Republican party in the campaign of 1904, and announced:

"My life was made weary by the Democratic candidates chasing me for money in that campaign. Some of the very men who today are being interviewed in the papers and denouncing men who con-

EDWARDS SLATED FOR PRESIDENT BY THE EASTON CONVENTION

Pittsburgh Attorney May Be Elected by State League of Republican Clubs.

ADRESSED BY MR. PLUMMER

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

EASTON, Sept. 20.—The question of the presidency of the State League of Republican Clubs for next year has been uppermost all day and is not yet officially decided, though it is stated tonight upon excellent authority that Albert J. Edwards, assistant district attorney of Pittsburgh, is the man.

There was a big outpouring of people tonight to see the speakers of the mass meeting escorted to the opera house. A parade followed in front of which was the McKinley club. Three bands and a great profusion of fireworks served to give grandeur to the event. The stage was filled with delegates and prominent local Republicans. The speakers were J. B. Swartz of Altoona, J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia, Alexander McDowell, clerk of the national house of representatives; Frederick Fleitz of Scranton, and J. Lee Plummer, candidate for state treasurer.

The audience gave Mr. Plummer a hearty reception. He began by saying he was a Republican both by inheritance and belief. His grandfather was one of the organizers of the Republican party in Blair county. He spoke of the achievements of the Republican party in the nation. "It has placed the country on a sound monetary basis," he said, "and its policy of protection to American industries has made this nation the greatest of all nations and our people the most prosperous on earth. This convention is composed largely of young men, and in this it is typical of the Republican party. Young, stalwart, eager, honest and enthusiastic. It is composed of the most progressive men of the country and to its ranks the young gravitate like the needle to the pole."

Mr. Plummer then traced the history of the Republican party in Pennsylvania, telling of its achievements, its legislation, which had removed taxation from the people and put it on the corporations; its policy of returning four-fifths of the liquor license money to the people and of appropriating in addition millions to the public schools and even more to charitable institutions and to higher education. Added to this the state, under Republican rule, was erecting a new capitol building and paying for it out of the ordinary revenues.

CASTLE'S CHARGE IS BRANDED AS FALSE

Statement Reflecting on Senator Penrose Is Denied by a Banker.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Mayor Berry, the Democratic-Prohibition candidate for state treasurer, spoke from the same platform here tonight with Homer L. Castle of Pittsburgh, Prohibition nominee for judge of the superior court, and Dr. Swallow, the candidate of the temperance party for president last fall.

This was the first of the series of six meetings at which Berry will speak on his campaign tour of the state. His speech was simply a repetition of that of one month ago, formally accepting the Democratic nomination. There were few prominent Democrats in the audience.

In his address Mr. Castle said he was attorney for a bank in Allegheny county, whose name he withheld, which was offered a deposit of state funds provided it would loan half of it to Senator Penrose and a man named Shaw. Mr. Castle also said the bank took the money, but could not collect the loan for a long time, and then it was repaid by the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny.

At the close of the meeting when Mr. Castle was asked for a more detailed explanation of this alleged transaction, he declined to throw any more light on it.

William T. Bradburry, vice president of the Enterprise National bank, said last night, concerning the above quotation:

"The Enterprise bank never had any part in such a transaction. As vice president and one of the directors, I would certainly know all about any business of the Enterprise bank, and you can say for me that the statement made concerning the bank is not true. We have on deposit some of the state funds, but we never paid any money to any bank that had dealings with Senator Penrose, such as is reported by Mr. Castle."

Senator Penrose to Speak.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Senator Penrose left tonight for Centre Hall, where he will tomorrow deliver an address to the state grange.

M'CALL CLAIMS HE WAS DOGGED FOR MONEY

tribute to campaigns were crossing my path every step I took looking for money. One—the candidate himself, Parker—if he would show up his books when he was chairman of the Democratic state committee it would give you a fit. He never rejected a dollar in the world. He would take every dollar that was paid to him."

Judge Parker was chairman of the Democratic state executive committee in 1886.

Mr. McCall's statement was greeted with cheering, which continued until a threat was made to clear the room of listeners if the crowd did not restrain itself.

With great care the account of Andrew K. Hamilton with the company was analyzed by Mr. Hughes, who asked Mr. McCall about every item and made it clear that a search was being made for political contributions. It was shown that at present Hamilton owes the company about $60,000, but Mr. McCall said he felt sure that Hamilton, who is now in Europe, will repay this sum upon the company's demand.

Mr. Hamilton's Duties.

Mr. McCall said he had known Andrew Hamilton since he was 10 years old. He has no relative either by blood or marriage. He had been connected with the company since 1892, in the trial of the Pierce pension case, where he represented the company in the defense of that case. He continued as adviser and counsel on a retainer, not a salary. The first two years this was $2,000. He continued in that capacity except that his duties were extended. He was given entire charge of the United States in the matter of legislation and taxes. He employed all his own attorneys and did all his own work in connection with the various matters.

"Representing the New York Life Insurance Company before legislative committees?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"I think he did."

"Do you know precisely what he did do?"

"No."

Questioned about $100,000 sent to Mr. Hamilton for the purchase of real estate, according to the witness, Mr. McCall was asked:

Has this money been accounted for?

It has, Mr. Hughes.

Please produce the account.

It was given me personally in my office.

Please produce this account, repeated Mr. Hughes.

It was given me personally in my office, again said Mr. McCall.

Senator Armstrong broke in: "You mean verbally?"

Yes, verbally.

"Is it the usual thing to supply your agents with $100,000 in money for the purchase of property?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"No, Mr. Hamilton is the only one."

"Why did you supply him?"

"I would supply Andrew Hamilton with millions."

"That is interesting—tell me about that."

"I supplied Andrew Hamilton with $2,000,000 within the last six months on mortgages."

"What understanding have you with Mr. Hamilton?"

"Before he went to Europe he told me that if he were to settle with me he would owe me about $60,000, and he asked me if he was good for it. I said, 'You are; you are all right, Judge.'"

"Now, on December 2, 1903, a check for $25,000 was given to Mr. Hamilton and charged to law expenses. Is that right?"

"Yes."

"You carried the check as cash and yet you later charged it as law expenses. How could you do that?"

"We charged it as law expenses to be accounted for."

"Do you regard that as a proper entry?"

"I do."

"What kind of bookkeeping is that; you take it out of one account and place it on another. Why did you do it?"

"We did it to have the item appear as an asset."

"Just what I thought; to appear as an asset," replied Mr. Hughes.

"On March 28, 1904," said Mr. McCall, "Mr. Hamilton went over the accounts with the company which he had not accounted for. Altogether there was $235,000 in these accounts and by my orders the account was transferred to the home office annex account."

Aside from the quarterly retainer to Mr. Hamilton, Mr. McCall said the company paid about $100,000 a year to Mr. Hamilton for legal services. He denied that he ever gave Mr. Hamilton money to influence any member of the legislature or that he advised any such course.

Taking up the campaign contributions Mr. McCall said that in 1896 he contributed to the defeat of the silver platform, not to the defeat of the Democratic party. In other cases of campaign contributions Mr. McCall preferred to characterize them as contributions to the support of the gold platform rather than to the Republican national committee. As to the contribution to the Republican campaign fund in 1904, Mr. McCall said he did not care how many of the policy-holders agreed with his action. He made the contribution honestly believing it was justified and for the interest of the policy-holders.

Parker Makes Retort.

Judge Alton B. Parker, Democratic candidate for president in 1904, tonight made a statement concerning President McCall's testimony relative to the soliciting of funds from the New York Life Insurance Company by Democrats in 1904. He said:

My attention has been called to certain testimony said to have been given today by Mr. John A. McCall, while a witness before the insurance investigation committee, in reply to Mr. Hughes' question whether he thought "that in 1904 the interests of the policy-holders were so seriously endangered that the company ought to contribute."

It is evident Mr. McCall was laboring under great excitement in making his reply, for it is very incoherent. But if his answer is intended to convey the impression that in the campaign of 1904, I, either directly or indirectly, solicited from him or his corporation, or any other corporation, any money or valuable thing, his statement is absolutely false.

On the contrary, I will repeat now what I said before the election—that I expressly notified the chairman of the executive committee of the national committee that no money should be received from corporations.

William F. Sheehan's attention was called to the testimony of Mr. McCall, and he said:

I was chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee. There was not a single man connected with the Democratic national committee that solicited a dollar from Mr. McCall. If any such person made any such solicitation Mr. McCall should name him.

Mr. McCall said tonight, in reference to his testimony today:

The meaning I intended to convey when I mentioned Judge Parker was this: Judge Parker, when a candidate for the presidency last year, did not personally ask me for campaign funds, but friends of his did so repeatedly. Judge Parker, as chairman of the state Democratic committee several years ago, did, however, accept proffered contributions to the campaign fund.

The heads of departments of the United States Steel Corporation are in the city to discuss trade conditions and consider other important matters bearing on the operations of the corporation. All the representatives of the subsidiaries bring tidings of prosperity from their respective districts. They declare conditions in iron and steel are more substantial than they have ever been in history.

A representative of the Illinois Steel Company says his company has been breaking many records in production, and that the works have sold their possible output well into next year. A few more orders and the company's entire rail capacity for 1906 will be sold.

"A year ago," said he, "steel manufacturers never dreamed the steel production would reach such enormous proportions at this time. I should not be surprised that the rail mills of the country could sell their etire 1906 capacity if they were disposed to do so, but, in view of the already congested condition of the mills, manufacturers will not take orders unless they are positive they can make deliveries. As it is, many mills are far back in their deliveries."

It is said the Illinois Steel Company will fall 100,000 tons short of making its deliveries this year.

A representative of the American Steel and Wire Company said wire conditions were exceptionally good. One of the features of the Steel and Wire company, he said, is the progress that has been made since its organization, in reducing operating costs. Continued prosperity in the agricultural districts, and the many new uses to which wire is being put, are responsible to a large extent for the increased consumption of the products turned out by the company.

A representative of the Carnegie company also said the mills were more anxious about deliveries than future business. He is of the opinion the mills of the Steel Corporation are assured a steady run for 18 months. The output of the Steel Corporation at present is larger than at any time since its organization.

Several of the steel representatives declared if fair weather prevailed in October, November and December, and no difficulty was experienced by the railroads in handling freight, the statement of the United States Steel Corporation for the fourth quarter of the current year would be as favorable from the standpoint of earnings as the statement for the third quarter.

The Carnegie Steel Company, Illinois Steel Company, Lorain Steel Company, American Steel and Wire Company, National Tube Company, Shelby Steel Tube Company, American Sheet, Steel and Tin Plate Company, American Bridge Company, Union Steel Company and Clairton Steel Company are represented at the conferences.

LAURA BIGGAR BEGINS FIGHT AGAINST JUDGMENT

Asks Court to Open a Default Taken Against Her in Pittsburgh Last May.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Laura Biggar, moved before Judge Truax, in the supreme court today, to open a default taken against her last May, in an action brought by Samuel I. Falkenstein, who took judgment for $23,000 for legal services between July 12 and October 13, 1902. He obtained an attachment against her real estate in Pittsburgh.

She had employed counsel to defend the case, and then paid no attention to it. Through neglect the default was taken against her, she alleges.

While Judge Truax was inclined to think the amount was large for a few months' services, he said he would examine the papers, and reserved his decision.

WHERE IS JOHN SWIGERT?

Wife in Ohio Town Writes Pathetic Letter to Police Asking That He Be Located.

He came home as he always did; ate his supper as he always did; kissed the children and went down the street as he always did, and went away. I don't know why he left his home, his wife and his little ones.

This was the pathetic ending of a letter received by the police yesterday from Mrs. Mary Swigert of Barberton, O., who wants information as to the whereabouts of her husband, John Swigert. He is 30 years old and disappeared from home last May. He had been employed as a cupola tender and fireman in Barberton, and his wife thinks he might be found in one of the Pittsburgh foundries. In the letter the forsaken wife inclosed a picture of herself, husband and the children. The oldest is but 4 years, while another, aged 18 months, is named "Theodore Roosevelt Swigert."

NAME THEIR COMMTTEE TO MEET OFFICIALS

Residents of Castle Shannon and vicinity who met last night to protest against the raising of fares by the Pittsburgh Railways Company, resolved to ask the corporation to appoint a representative to confer with their committee of eight which was chosen last night. Another committee was appointed to confer with the Wabash railroad in regard to additional trains and a third committee to formulate plans for organizing Castle Shannon board of trade. The meeting was held in the Castle Shannon Methodist church and about 100 attended. James L. McKee was chairman.

Will Parade in Afternoon.

A meeting of the East End Mardi Gras committee, which has in charge the arrangements for the Halloween celebration, was held last night at Alderman E. C. Negley's office. It was decided to hold the parade in the afternoon so as to give the masqueraders a chance to participate in the general celebration at night. An invitation will be extended to the residents of Brushton and Wilkinsburg to participate in the parade.

Will Be No Lockout.

The report that a general lockout is contemplated by the Builders Exchange league because about 100 workmen employed on the addition to the Carnegie institute went on strike, is denied. Secretary Campbell of the league yesterday stated that the contractors, William Miller & Sons, will likely adjust the trouble, which was caused by the employment of a few non-union men.

Couldn't Hold on Long Enough.

FAIRMONT, W. VA., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—William Yost, a Baltimore & Ohio railroad conductor, fell 75 feet from the suspension bridge to the Baltimore & Ohio tracks last midnight, striking his head. Henry Knowles caught Yost's foot and held on as long as he could, but before assistance came his strength gave out. Yost is in a critical condition.

Patrol Boxes Go Wrong.

Something went wrong with all the police patrol boxes down town last night. The patrolmen could send in a call for the wagon but were unable to make themselves understood in reporting their numbers at the required interval, or in sending in any message. The district affected was that below Grant street down to the Point.

KNOXVILLE SHOOTING AFFAIR STIRS PEOPLE

Frank Schmitt, the Victim of Two Men's Fury Believes That His Assailants Mistook Him for Another Person.

Residents of Knoxville are considerably stirred up over the shooting which took place in that borough early yesterday morning, but few are willing to believe that Frank Schmitt, who was the victim of the fury of Frank T. Thompson and his son, Frank, aged 18, of 215 Knox avenue, Knoxville, is guilty of the charge of insulting Thompson's wife, as the husband alleges. Schmitt is at his home in a badly battered condition, and last night was unable to attend the hearing before Justice Willock.

Schmitt is suffering from a broken nose, a bullet wound through the left wrist and bruises about the head and body. In order to prevent complications Dr. Smith advised him to remain at his home for about a week, and it is probable the hearing in the case will be held before Squire Willock of Knoxville next Tuesday. In the meantime Thompson and his son are being held under $1,000 each. Schmitt last night said he believes the Thompsons mistook him for another man. He has not preferred charges against his assailants, the Knoxville police having brought charges of assault and battery with intent to kill against the Thompsons.

Schmitt is employed as a bartender in a saloon in Fourth avenue, near the Panhandle railroad station. He says he boarded the next to the last day car at Fourth avenue and Smithfield street and sat about the middle of the car. He noticed Thompson was a passenger. Schmitt says he did not know Thompson by name, but his face was familiar, as he had often seen him on the Knoxville cars. The car stopped at Charles street and Georgia avenue, Knoxville, about 12:20 a. m., and Schmitt says the Thompsons followed him from the car and assaulted him on the street. At the first blow he received Schmitt alleges Thompson said: "I'll teach you not to insult women. You tried to pay my wife's car fare."

Schmitt says he protested that Thompson was mistaken, but received another blow in the face, which brought the blood and as he drew his handkerchief from his pocket Thompson warned him to keep his hands out of his pockets and struck him again. Schmidt says he then pulled his revolver from his pocket and fired, as he supposed into the air. Then, he says, Thompson and his son wrenched the revolver from him and struck him on the nose and head with the butt. Schmitt fell over a wire fence unconscious.

When he revived he called for help. Several men in the neighborhood responded and took him to the office of Dr. H. M. Smith, where his wounds were dressed. Policeman Harry Clause then took Schmitt to his home in Bon Air. The Thompsons were arrested at their home at 4 a. m. by Policemen Clause and Albert Scheuring on descriptions furnished by Schmitt. Thompson and his son could not be found at their home last night.

A bullet from Schmitt's revolver passed through the younger Thompson's coat sleeve, and another went within a fraction of an inch of his father's shoulder.

POPULISTS IN NEBRASKA FUSE WITH DEMOCRATS

Bryan Commends President Roosevelt to the Convention—Platform Declares Against Railroad Passes.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LINCOLN, NEB., Sept. 20.—Fusion of Democrats and Populists of Nebraska was effected today by the nomination by both state conventions of the following ticket: Justice of the supreme court, William G. Hastings, Democrat; regents of the university, D. C. Cole, Populist; Louis Lightner, Democrat.

The feature of the Democratic gathering was the speech of William J. Bryan, in which he commended President Roosevelt for what he declared to be his advanced stand on the principles long advocated by Democrats. On these principles he hoped every Democrat would uphold the president.

The Democratic platform favors a law giving to the interstate commerce commission the power to fix railroad rates; and declares against railroad passes. The Populist platform declares for the national ownership and operation of railroads.

PROPOSE TO BUILD A LARGE MERCHANT MILL

Capitalists of Youngstown Will Back a New Iron Proposition—Will Be a Separate Concern.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 20.—A new iron proposition is now before the people of Youngstown and will be put through, it is said, within a short time. It is for the building of a new merchant mill which will be separate and distinct from any plant or concern now in existence. It will be backed by some of the most substantial men of the city and have practical men at its head, who have been engaged in the business for years and made a success of it.

The beginning of the concern will be small. It is proposed to build at once at least three mills with puddle furnaces which can be used if necessary. No pretense will be made toward anything larger at present, and billets will be purchased in the market while running on steel.

However, the plans are to make preparations for the enlargement of the plant and eventually to make one of the largest in the valley. At present the merchant mills of the country are making large amounts of money, and it is expected this proposition will be a good one.

WILKINSBURG POLICEMAN HAS AN EXCITING TIME

Policeman Ed. Sarver of Wilkinsburg was almost drowned yesterday afternoon in a chase after David Brooks, colored. Three other negroes and Brooks were fighting in North avenue and Sarver tried to arrest them. All ran, and Brooks, being the ringleader, Sarver gave chase. They had to pass over a culvert and Brooks jumped clear, but Sarver fell into the mud and water six feet deep. While sinking slowly in the mud he fired two shots at Brooks, who, however, escaped. After a hard struggle Sarver liberated himself from the quicksand.

TO EXCHANGE TREATY AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Final Peace Ratification Will Be Made at Executive Mansion as a Compliment to the President.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—It can now be stated definitely that the exchange of the ratification of the treaty of peace between Japan and Russia will take place in Washington shortly after the treaty has been ratified by the respective sovereigns. It is probable that this will be done in the White House as a compliment to President Roosevelt.

TOKYO, Sept. 20.—An anti-peace meeting, held in Uyena park today, was barely attended, owing to a heavy rain. The approaches to the park were guarded by troops, but no guards were posted inside. Resolutions adopted demanded that the cabinet break the peace treaty or resign. It was decided to bring pressure to bear on members of the lower house to conform with the resolution threatening not to re-elect those failing to so act. An address to the throne was also adopted, but it has not yet been published.

REORGANIZE OLD FACTORY.

Glass Plant Which Has Been Idle for a Dozen Years Will Be Started Again.

MONONGAHELA, PA., Sept. 20.—(Special).—The California glass plant, which has been out of running order for a dozen years, has been bought by a new company and will start again soon. The works were erected in 1880 by an organization of men in this vicinity, and in the first years of its existence many thousands of dollars were lost by stockholders. The sheriff finally got it, many California residents going bankrupt when the works shut down.

This summer Robert C. Campbell formed a company composed of his sons, John, Frank and Robert. The old plant was purchased and placed in shape to run. All the Campbells are practical glass workers and will take active management of the works. About 75 men will be employed at first, but it is expected that 150 men will be working at the end of the year.

HEAT CAUSES A DEATH

One Fatality and a Number of Prostrations in the Anthracite Region.

POTTSVILLE, PA., Sept. 20.—The first death from heat this year occured at the Wadesville colliery, where Lawrence Eagon, aged 48, was overcome and died. While the thermometer registered 93 degress in the shade, Eagon and Samuel Corby went into a hoisting drum to tighten some bolts. Eagon felt himself losing his senses and rushed out into the open air to drop dead. Corby staggered into the open air just in time to save himself from a similar fate.

Martin Whalen, a blacksmith, was overcome at the Palo Alto shops. There were numerous other prostrations from heat hereabouts. The high temperature still prevails.

CITIZENS UNION BOLTS ANTI-TAMMANY CONFERENCE

Party Expects to Nominate a Full City Ticket Instead of Joining Fusionists.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—A meeting of the conference committee of the organizations opposed to Tammany Hall, with the exception of the Citizens' Union, was held tonight. Before the meeting the committee of 16 of the Citizens' Union met and decided not to attend the conference.

R. Fulton Cutting issued a statement that the union had decided not to return to the conference after learning that the Republican organization was committed to a single candidate for mayor, whose name it was unwilling to disclose. The Citizens' Union city convention will be held next Thursday night, when it is hoped to nominate a full city ticket.

The party which will support District Attorney Jerome in his independent campaign for re-election will be known as the "Jerome nominators," and the party emblem will be a solid black square.

MOB LIBERATES PRISONERS.

Guards Are Shot Down and Important Political Offenders Are Carried Off After Much Firing.

RIGA, RUSSIA, Sept. 20.—The central prison here was attacked early this morning by a crowd of about 100 persons, who scaled the walls, cut the telephone wires and killed two and seriously wounded three of the guards. The mob forced the cells and liberated two important political prisoners whom they carried off. The police and the night watchman pursued the mob, and firing ensued during which a policeman was killed.

OREL, RUSSIA, Sept. 20.—The prisoners in the government prison here revolted last night. Order was restored by the police and the troops. One prisoner was killed and five were injured.

WAR VETERAN IS KILLED.

George N. Wheeler, Member of Post 88, Is Fatally Injured by Uniontown Trolley Car.

George N. Wheeler, aged 70, a machinist employed at the Pittsburgh locomotive works, died yesterday at the Uniontown hospital from injuries received by being thrown from a street car at that place. The aged man attempted to alight from the car while it was still in motion, and was thrown headlong to the pavement. His skull, left shoulder and left hip were fractured, and his right arm was broken in three places.

Mr. Wheeler joined the lodge of Masons in Kingston more than two-score years ago. He was also a member of Post No. 88, Grand Army of the Republic of Allegheny. He is survived by his widow and three daughters. His interment will take place at Uniontown today.

WILL TAP A NEW TERRITORY.

Application to Be Made for Trolley Line to Be Erected Over a Private Right of Way.

IRWIN, PA., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Application for a charter will be made for a trolley line to be called the Greensburg & Sewickley Street Railway Company. The road will tap an entirely new country and will run from the New Stanton road in Hempfill township direct to the coal towns of Arona, Madison and Herminie.

It will be mainly over private right of way and at various points will connect with existing and contemplated trolley lines. Congressman George F. Huff, his son, Lloyd Huff, Richard Coulter and H. F. Bovard are among those interested in the project.

EDUCATIONAL.

A BOY THAT FAILED

to make progress at a noted New England academy entered the Groff School recently with several having had similar experiences at other large schools. They were all put into Yale and other large colleges the following September without a condition, one year ahead of their former classmates, and their present standing at college is very high. Mr. Groff's experience with these boys is typical of the success he has had for 10 years.

THE GROFF SCHOOL,
229 West 72d St., New York,
now occupying the most handsome school quarters in New York, is ideal and exceptional as a boarding and day school.

No young and inexperienced teachers to experiment with students.

Absolutely individual attention, the number being strictly limited. No very young boys admitted in main school. Handsome study parlors, billiard room, electric elevator and full and free use of skating rink, bowling alleys, fencing hall, gymnasium, swimming pool, athletic field, etc.

Proper and judicious supervision of the daily life of all students of the school, but all foolish school discipline, military drill and consequent loss of time eliminated. Reopens September 28th.

WEAVER'S PARTY NAMES A TICKET

Philadelphia Mayor's Slate Goes Through Convention Behind Closed Doors.

ALL SORTS OF "REFORMERS"

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.

With the committees of "Seventy," of "Nine" and of "Fourteen"—the mayor's advisory body—directing its work from the stage, the convention of the City party today nominated the following county ticket:

Sheriff, Commoun Councilman Wilson H. Brown; coroner, ex-Magistrate J. M. J. Jermon; commissioners, Rudolph Blankenburg and E. A. Anderson. This was Mayor Weaver's slate, the only change made being the shift of Jermon from commissionership to that of coroner. The Republican candidates for judge were indorsed, the Hon. Craig Biddle for common pleas, and the Hon. Morris Dallett for orphans court.

The public was barred. Aside from an opening invocation by the Rev. Floyd Tompkins and the adoption of the anathematical platform, of 1,500 words, the five hours of the session was appropriated by oratorical effort. Mayor Weaver was given extravagant praise, and the Republican leaders were cremated in the vocal crucible of the reformers. After adjournment the delegates, flanked fore and aft by battallions of police, marched to City hall to receive absolution from the mayor. After formal notification of the result, Mayor Weaver renewed his pledge of support and urged the delegation to work for the absolute defeat of the regular Republican county ticket.

The City party platform aproves all of the legislation and municipal improvements advocated by the Republican city platform, demands the repeal of the act giving councils power to elect heads of departments and eulogizes Mayor Weaver.

The Democratic city convention tonight indorsed the ticket nominated by the City party. There was strong opposition by many of the delegates, and it became necessary for Chairman Charles Donnelly to make a personal appeal. This saved the Wanamaker program, but many of the delegates denounced the deal.

MINERS GO ON STRIKE IN SYMPATHY WITH MULES

TERRE HAUTE, IND., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—The mine mule has caused a number of peculiar strikes in Indiana, but today 125 men were out at mine No. 6, and it was a sympathy strike for the mule, the men contending that the mules did not get enough to eat. The manager of the mine promised to attend to the case and the men returned to work. Heretofore strikes have grown out of alleged ill treatment of mules.

DECLARES PANAMA CANAL IS A TOY

James J. Hill Tells Farmers That Waterway Will Not Increase Foreign Trade.

HOPE LIES IN THE ORIENT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PRESTON, MINN., Sept. 20.—Declaring that the Panama canal would be an expensive toy that would be of little use in extending American foreign trade, James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, today in an address to farmers of Southern Minnesota at the Fillmore county fair, arvised the farmers not to be deluded into thinking that government control of railroads would reduce rates.

President Hill said the main good that farmers could secure was reduced transportation rates. Reduced rates would follow increased markets because on a business basis railroads could haul goods cheaper if there were more goods shipped. Railroad rates would decline more slowly under government control than if fixed by intelligent managers of railroads. However, it was right that the government should secure fair treatment and prevent discrimination.

President Hill said the orient was the future market for Northwest products. To secure that market, Americans needed to increase its foreign carrying facilities and to cease offending the Chinese. He termed the Panama canal a toy that we could afford since it appealed to the imagination of the people; but he derided the argument that it would augment American foreign trade.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Complying with the instructions of President Roosevelt, issued April 1, last, that meetings of the Isthmian Canal commission shall be held in the offices of the governor of the Panama canal zone, on the isthmus of Panama on the first of January, April, July and October, each year, the members of the commission are preparing to sail for the isthmus on the 28th inst. Gov. Magoon is the only member there. Chairman Shonts has invited the members of the consulting board of engineers now in session in this city to accompany the commission, and it is understood that all of the members of this board will go.

EQUIPMENT IS ORDERED.

Committee on Technical Schools Places Its Orders for Furnishings With 26 Firms.

The committee on technical schools yesterday announced that it has given orders for equipment for the schools, and also received a report that the engine of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company has been tested satisfactorily. The orders for equipment were given to the following firms:

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS PAID OUT ILLEGALLY

FAIRMONT, W. VA., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Estimates made today show that between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 have been paid out of the city treasury illegally in the last three years. City council last night learned that to pay money it requires a vote of council and not the approval of the committee. The latter has been the system by which money has been paid. Two investigations in the city council are about to be made on charges of grafting.

Accept Minister's Resignation.

The resignation of the Rev. A. W. Caldwell of the First United Presbyterian church, McKeesport, has been accepted by both the congregation and the presbytery. The minister leaves to go to Cochrantown, Pa.

OFFICIALS ARE AGAIN SUMMONED TO COURT

Hearings in the Verner Traction Case Will Be Resumed Today Before Gamble.

City officials and members of Pittsburgh councils when the Verner traction franchises were granted have received a second notice to appear before United States Commissioner Gamble in the suit brought by John L. Shuff against the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the Philadelphia Company and the Grant and Liberty Street Railways Company. The city officials and councilmen are to testify concerning the charges that the traction ordinances were passed by means of bribery.

Murry A. Verner, one of the promoters of the Verner franchises which are said to be now in the possession of the Philadelphia Company, has also been summoned. Verner, members of the city councils, city officials and others each received a summons to the hearings, which adjourned in July for the summer. They have received a second notice to be on hand to give evidence at the hearings which will be resumed this morning.

The presence of city officials and councilmen is wanted to inqufre particularly into the charges of corruption which, under the decision of Attorney General Carson, cannot be heard in the quo warranto proceedings to be instituted in the name of the commonwealth against the Grant and Liberty Street Railway Company. The hearings before Commissioner Gamble will continue to be private while the proceedings in the county court on behalf of the state will be before a jury and will be public.

A. Leo Weil, one of the attorneys for the Voters' Civic league, which was instrumental in bringing the Shuff case before the United States circuit court, said yesterday that a the quo wrrauto proceedings ordered by the attorney general would not affect the Shuff case, but that the latter would be continued regardless of action by the state authorities because the Shuff case is brought by private individuals to protect private and individual rights, while the quo warranto proceedings are brought in the name of the public to prevent an alleged public wrong.

Attorney Weil and his associates were on hand yesterday to continue the hearings before Commissioner Gamble, but the case was postponed for a day because the attorneys for the defense were not present.

Our Great China Department and Its Wealth of Wares.

Of course a china store to be favored with popularity must necessarily contain variety, and that variety should be what might properly be called excessive—in other words, variety in the least expensive household chinas, as well as variety in the finest and most expensive table and ornamental chinas.

We can think of no store in this broad land that has more variety than is to be seen in our China Department, third floor, East. Here are to be found the finest and most costly English chinas, all the famed chinas that come out of the city of Limoges, and, by the way, there are many inexpensive wares imported from that city, and the dainty and modestly priced Austrian chinas, that for beauty and for setting an ideal table are unsurpassed.

And it is not alone in chinaware that this department excels, but also in its varied exhibits of porcelains. It is a singular custom that in this country when we speak of porcelain the idea is taken up as meaning the ordinary white iron-stone ware, or the commonly decorated ware. In art centers porcelain is used as a term denoting the finest of pottery.

In this department everything pertaining to finest china can be seen—everything pertaining to medium grades of china can be seen, and everything pertaining to the every day porcelain can be seen.

Our prices are always very close to cost, and as an evidence of this, the following is submitted:

Austrian China Ramekins, gold scalloped edges, dainty floral decorations, $1.50 dozen, value $2.50.

French China Cups and Saucers, four different styles of decorations, $3.00 dozen, value $4.50.

French China Ramekins different decorations, 25c each, value $4.50 dozen.

Austrian China Mayonnaise Dishes, gold scalloped edge Dresden decorations, 25c each, value 40c.

Prettily Decorated China Salts and Peppers, 15c each, value 25c.

Chop Dishes, scenic decorations, 12-inch size, $1.25 each, value $1.75.

Interesting News of New Furniture.

Our Furniture Department invites inspection of its new lines of furniture brought in especially for the Autumn season. Attention is also directed to the less prices we charge for furniture. It is an acceptable proposition, we take it, for people who are discussing the matter of new furniture to have the pleasure of inspecting lines upon lines of up-to-date furniture and to find same priced on the customary modest basis of this store. Bearing out our low prices, please note today's sale of new tables as herewith quoted:

School Supplies.

We question whether children will find such another assortment as is contained in our School Supply Department, East Basement. Everything needed for the school months: Slates and lead pencils, erasers, chalk, crayons, rulers, penholders and points, book straps, pencil boxes, carryalls and book bags, and the prices low enough to save you car fare to the store.

DICTIONARIES—Every boy and girl getting ready for the high school and those already in the high school should be an owner of a dictionary. The "speller" is all right, but it isn't to compare with a reliable dictionary, and the Twentieth Century Dictionary is the most reliable we know of. And right here we want to say that the boy or the girl who is a good speller has many points in his or her favor. The Twentieth Century Dictionary is an up-to-date lexicon, handy size, patent thumb index cut on edge for reference. Priced as follows: Cloth, 75c; half leather, $1.00; limp leather, $1.15.

Dictionaries will be found in the Book Store.

25c Correspondence Papers 15c a Pound.

15c Packs of Envelopes, Two Packs for 15c.

That is the good word for people who have much correspondence—a sale today of writing paper on which sufficient is saved to encourage you to come again.

The paper is a high grade bond, square shape, white, also robin egg blue. Envelopes in wallet shape.

If you will go to the Stationery Counter, rear aisle No. 5, you can today buy for 30c a pound of this fine bond paper and two packages of envelopes, which on most any other day would cost you 55c.

Our Basket Display at the Exposition.

We keep our basket makers going all year round—anyone interested in basket weaving is always welcome in the basket factory, East Basement. Aside from any interest in weaving, this department is always worth a visit to see what is new in the basket line, as the newest things are always there.

Another good way to learn about basketry is to visit our basket display in the Pittsburgh Exposition. We exhibit there not only baskets, but every article that can be woven of willow and the materials generally connected in one's mind with baskets only.

We were not satisfied to show the results of the efforts of our own basket makers, but have brought from the basket-weaving cities of Europe the finest examples of the art of basketry.

The display abounds in novelties, such as fancy handkerchief and glove boxes, picnic hampers, work boxes, dresser trays and like articles of utility and adornment.

New Curtain and Upholstery Stuffs.

There are so many new materials for curtain and drapery purposes awaiting inspection that it is utterly impossible to describe them all.

However, there are some in such universal demand as to call for particular mention, as for example, the new Fall importations of

New Scotch Madras, high class colorings and designs, 75c, 80c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

New English Curtain Nets, by the yard, 25c, 30c, 50c, 75c, $1.00.

New French Etamines by the yard, 60c, 65c, 75c, $1.00.

SCOTTISH RITE COUNCIL HONORS PITTSBURGHERS

Confers the Thirty-Third Degree Upon David F. Collingwood, William D. McIlroy and Joseph Lewis—Selection Is Unexpected.

Masonic circles were much interested in the news from Indianapolis that the supreme council of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, which is in session there, had elected three prominent Pittsburghers for the 33d degree, the highest honor that can be conferred upon a Mason. Telegrams were received yesterday by a number of Pittsburghers, including the men honored, that County Treasurer David F. Collingwood, William D. McElroy and Joseph Lewis, formerly controller of the city of Pittsburgh, had been elected to the governing body of this order. The degrees will be conferred upon them next year at Boston.

There are about 80,000 Masons in Pennsylvania, and out of this number about 60 have the 33d degree, less than one to 1,000. All are past officers of the Scottish Rite bodies.

The present session of the supreme council of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite for the northern Masonic jurisdiction of the United States, is also conferring the highest degree upon three well-known Pittsburghers who were elected last year, D. L. Gillespie, Frank Ridgeway and Eli Edmundson. The council will be in session three days. Among other Pittsburghers present are James I. Buchanan, Harry W. Dunlap, W. S. Brown, James S. Arnold, George C. Johnstone and J. A. H. Junker, all 33d degree Masons. The meeting was one of the best attended in the history of the Masonic fraternity.

The election of Messrs. Collingwood, McElroy and Lewis was entirely unexpected and as great a surprise to the recipients as to their brothers in the craft. The degree is conferred entirely for merit, and all those who receive it are of necessity earnest workers and Masons of high standing. There are but five active 33d degree Masons in the Pennsylvania jurisdiction, the others being honorary members of that body, and in line for active membership. The honorary members have a voice in the council, but do not get a vote.

Owners of automobiles in Centre county have formed an association whose object is "not to antagonize horse owners, but to promote their welfare mutually with that of automobilists." The idea is an excellent one which might be followed to advantage by automobile associations everywhere. While some of the criticism directed against automobilists is unfair, enough of it is sufficiently well founded to call for vigorous action by those auto owners who have the best interest of the pastime at heart.

The southern newspaper which finds fault with President Roosevelt for permitting Miss Alice to travel in the east "like a royal princess" in order to "keep the name of Roosevelt before the world" will hardly add to its reputation for good taste and sound judgment. From all accounts, Miss Roosevelt's charm of manner and dignity of bearing during her memorable journey have been just what might have been expected from the daughter of such a father, and the pleasant courtesies accorded her have been most gratifying to the nation at large.

The unpleasantness between the French cable company and the Venezuela government, due to the closing of the company's station at Caracas and the expulsion of the local manager, reached the stage of a tart personality yesterday in the official reply breaking off relations with the French diplomatic representative. The protest of M. Taigny is declared to be "an act of personal hostility." The company's station is to be reopened, but negotiations must be conducted through some other channel than the present charge d'affaires. There is no diminution in the pertness of the Castro government.

New York reports an appalling number of burglaries in the last 10 weeks, over 800, while murders, to the perpetrators of which there is no clue, are matters of daily occurrence. A serious movement is on foot to amend the penal code so as to inflict the death penalty on the armed burglar. Certainly the burglar with the gun is always prepared to kill rather than be captured, and often to kill rather than be deprived of his plunder. Unless the New York police are more successful in making captures than they have been of late it will not make much difference to burglars what penalties are provided for them by law.

Commenting on an editorial in yesterday's Gazette concerning the tipping evil abroad, a correspondent suggests that the custom having become nearly as general in this country as in Europe, legislation be enacted for its prohibition. The experiment has already been made in several states, notably Wisconsin, without the success anticipated. The many ways in which the law can be evaded are obvious. There is no doubt the tipping custom has passed the bounds of reason and has become a real burden to a large number of persons, but legislation will be of little use in mending matters.

A remarkable instance of feminine interest in a community's welfare is reported from Irondale, a suburb of Chicago, where the women have raised a fund to run out of town the only idle man in the place. The man, after working three months, announced he was going to take a rest of equal duration. The women fear the effect of his bad example, owing to the fact that for seven years most of the men in the town were out of work because of the closing of the big steel mills in 1897. Last year new mills were opened and everybody went to work. So the only idle man must go. Gentlemen of leisure are not so popular in this country of workers.

The story which the president of the National Congress of Mothers brings back from Utah, regarding the plans laid by Mormons to assassinate Senator Frank J. Cannon, should be well salted before swallowed. There is no doubt Mr. Cannon is the most cordially hated of all the opponents of the Latter Day Saints, because he is an apostate who has been conducting a most vigorous campaign against his former friends and fellow members. Every issue of the Salt Lake Tribune teems with editorials attacking President Joseph F. Smith and other authorities of the Mormon church. But the removal of Mr. Cannon from life's activities would do more harm than good to the Mormon cause. Anyway, notwithstanding the many things we have heard lately about the Mormons, we do not believe any large number of them are that kind of people.

In somewhat heated phrase the Leader insists there have been changes in conditions since the passage of the McKinley tariff law in 1890, "the period when the system of tariff imposts now in force was created." There have been changes, indeed, including two changes of the tariff. But the Leader goes from bad to worse. From assuming the McKinley law to be now in force, as it did the other day, it now avers "the system of tariff imposts now in force was created" in 1890. Fortunately "Pig Iron" Kelly and Samuel Randall died before this astonishing assertion was made, not to mention Morrill, the father of the tariff of '68.

Just a Few Figures.

A rather desperate line of argument is adopted by the Post in relation to the Republican primaries. "About 70,000 Roosevelt Republicans in Allegheny county," it says, "either had no faith or no interest in Saturday's ring primary election. At all events they remained away from the polls." This is utterly false on the face of the returns. More than 32,000 votes were cast on Saturday. The vote for Robert Pitcairn, Roosevelt elector, last fall was 90,524. Subtracting 32,000 from 90,000, leaves 58,000, not 70,000.

Some of the votes for Mr. Pitcairn were cast by Democrats; some Citizens. It is fair to say 32,000 honest Republicans expressed the will of a vast majority of Republican voters in the county. Now, how many Democrats voted for the Democratic nominee? Just five. Need we name the Hon. William J. Brennen and his four assistants? How many voted for the Citizens nominee? About 500, selected from the payroll. How many will vote for the remainder of the nominees to fill up that wonderful ticket? Five.

Compare these committees by appointment with the more than 32,000 loyal Republicans who turned out on Saturday and cast their ballots. November 7 will tell the story. The Democratic Citizens committee will make a poor showing against the 32,000 Republican voters. When the Post adds 12,000 for good measure to a false statement it is in distress.

Less Liquor Consumed.

Almost anything can be proved from statistics, but it is difficult to see what other conclusion can be drawn from the steady decrease in the consumption of intoxicating liquor than that we are becoming a more temperate people. During the fiscal year 1905 the decrease in the consumption of distilled spirits, as compared with 1904, was 704,640 gallons. While probably there is no material reduction in the number of persons who indulge in the moderate and occasional use of alcoholic liquors, there is certainly less drunkenness than formerly. It is not so long since intoxication was considered not only respectable, but commendable. Congressmen in ante-bellum days were not ashamed to be carried from the dining table to their bedrooms, nor did their constituents think any the less of them for their habit of imbibing not wisely but too well.

There has been a radical reform in the nation's drinking habits. In this reform the great corporations, employing thousands of men, have assisted by requiring sobriety and in many cases total abstinence from their employes. It is significant that this increase in temperance has not been brought about to any degree by legislation, or by the influence of any political party organized for that purpose, but by business considerations primarily. The sober man renders the best service. Intemperate employes hurt business. Americans are becoming more temperate every year.

Our Weather Writers.

Ever since the weather bureau was established by the government chronic kickers have found it the most convenient football. The man who is planning a picnic and the woman who is in doubt whether to hang out the clothes to dry are equally indignant at the fallibility of the government's guessers, but the latest fault-finder has brand new grounds for complaint. He is distressed by the utter lack of literary quality in the weather reports. The style is bad and no attempt is made to interest the reader. Prosy, bald statements of alleged fact are made by the official observers without thought of how the prophecies are going to look in print. He suggests trained writers be hired by the weather bureau to receive the forecasts from the professional prophets and dress them in more attractive language.

The critic would seem to have some grounds for his complaint. Yesterday's forecast undoubtedly lacks the element of "human interest" considered indispensable in other styles of fiction. Here it is: "Fair and cooler, followed by fair and warmer." A forecaster with the true poetic instinct would never permit a prophecy to leave the office in that crude shape. Without dropping into rhyme, necessarily, it would be possible to introduce some poetic metaphors, speaking of the smiling sunshine chasing away the frowning clouds which had so lately been watering the earth with their tears, or something of that sort. Take the bare announcement, "Rain tonight," with which we are so often confronted. What could be more depressing? Now, if the unpleasant news were broken more gently to the reader, mentioning in the same connection that every cloud possesses its silver lining, or that "into each life some rain must fall," the disappointment would be rendered much less poignant. Congress promises to be too busy with the tariff this winter to consider this important reform, but perhaps the official forecaster will voluntarily take the hint and do better.

Folly as It Flies.

An advance of 9 cents a barrel in the price of crude oil has started a flood of foolishness. A local contemporary predicts a revival of oil speculation on the exchanges because an Oil City broker bid 4 cents more than the market price for two certificates and did not get them. The Oil City man, knowing the facts, probably did not expect to make a purchase, but merely to create a diversion. There are just 94 certificates now extant, representing 94,000 barrels of oil. The idea of a speculative furore on that basis, to the old-timers, will be, as the French say, "to laugh."

Equally ridiculous is a computation sent out from Toledo purporting to show the Standard Oil Company's profits from the advance to be $20,000,000. As the Standard interests had millions of barrels of oil in December, 1903, when the decline began; the decline averaged more than 30 cents a barrel, and the advance now has reached 9 cents a barrel, where is the profit? The total stocks of eastern oil at 9 cents a barrel would bring about one-tenth of the alleged $20,000,000 profit, but, as a matter of fact, the advance has not yet reached one-third of the previous decline on a larger amount of stocks.

The foolish story is an old, familiar friend. It comes forth in some type every time there is a marked change in the price of any commodity. People in business, however, do not count paper profits and losses.

A False Pretense.

A pretended defense of the tariff is made by the hypocritical Pittsburgh Times. It affects to see in revision by a Republican congress an attack on the protective policy. This same Times is engaged in an attempt to defeat the Republican ticket in Pennsylvania. Following the advice of Parker of Esopus to the defeated Democrats last November to capture towns, counties, states and so work up to the presidency in 1908, the Pittsburgh Times is straining itself to secure the election of William H. Berry, Democrat, free trader, free silverite, as treasurer of Pennsylvania.

Before Alton B. Parker was elevated to the bench in New York he was known as a clever managing politician. He was in a class with David Bennett Hill. When he advised his Democratic followers last fall how to redeem the party fortunes he was playing again the role of crafty politician, giving practical suggestion. The Times is playing the Parker game, and, in order to conceal its purpose to have a Democratic revision of the tariff, pretends to support the Dingley tariff against all comers.

When Gen. Nogi failed to take Port Arthur by assault he began sapping and mining its outposts. Bit by bit his forces crept forward, one position at a time. Finally he had Stoessel at his mercy. The hypocritical Times is attacking Fort Pennsylvania behind a screen. Shouting for the tariff of 1894, it is firing on the grand old party.

Interesting light is shed upon Japanese commercial methods by a correspondent who says the "middlemen" monopolize trade. The middleman tells the American purchaser the Japanese are not honest; then he tells the Japanese manufacturer the American purchaser is tricky and needs watching. Then the middleman charges excessive percentages to both sides. Japanese need no pointers from Wall street.

"We hope not only to convert large numbers of African cannibals," said a speaker at the Seattle missionary conference, "but to induce many of them to enter the ministry." In most cannibal countries this process is exactly reversed.

Indiana's defaulter, strange to say, is not the usual Sunday school superintendent. The fact, also, that he used both tobacco and liquor, as well as the funds from the treasury, prevents the incident from becoming sensational.

The postmaster at Wellington, Kan., says he has worn a necktie but five times in his life; four times when he was married and once when he addressed a woman's club. There is an enviable freedom to life in Kansas.

A veteran enumerator, employed in taking Minnesota's recent state census, expresses surprise that the women are no older than they were five years ago. He overlooks the feminine genius for turning back Time in his flight.

A country editor says: "Owing to our lengthy report of the trouble in the Baptist choir, we have no room left for other war news this week." That innocent "other" may contain some trouble, too.

Truth crushed to earth will generally rise again before being counted out by the referee, but the Democratic party, unfortunately, seems to have little in common with truth.

Controller Larkin says he will be for Stevenson or Brown for mayor. The controller means he will be for whoever the Democratic and Citizens bosses name for the place.

A Missouri man has been sent to jail for applauding a prayer in church. Luckily, the custom of encoring sermons has not yet come into vogue.

The raw food fad seems to be making some progress despite the average husband's proneness to roast what's put before him to eat.

President McCall's reply to Judge Parker is worth while and President Roosevelt's order to Chairman Cortelyou is characteristic.

For a man who's tumbled into a $100,000 job Mr. Parker is taking some extremely gloomy views of things in general.

MERCHANT SHIPPING ON OUR INLAND SEAS

Giant Vessels to Be Launched by the Pittsburgh Steamship Co. for Lake Traffic.

In all probability the two giant vessels which have been ordered by the Pittsburgh Steamship Company, the lake representative of the steel trust, will be in service next season. They will be in commission before the mammoth turbine steamships of the Cunard company or two or three of the monsters now in process of construction for other ocean lines.

The first months of their service, therefore, will find them competing, in point of size, only with deep sea vessels already afloat. There will be about 20 ships in the world, at that time, longer than the giants of the lakes. Scarcely as many will equal them in cargo capacity. The biggest of lake vessels will be 600 feet long over all. Their breath of beam will be 58 feet. They will each carry 12,000 gross tons of ore. That means more than 18,200 tons of 2,000 pounds, such as are used in weighing coal and nearly all other commodities sold by the ton.

Other Big Vessels.

The Atlantic Transport Company has three steamships in service which are seven inches more than 600 feet in length. The same corporation is building a fourth vessel a few feet longer. Two Cunarders are each 20 feet over 600. The enormous turbine steamships now in process of construction for the Cunard line will not be finished for a long time.

One new ship of the French line, which surpasses by 24 feet the length of the lake giants, may be in service when they go into commission. Three ships of the Hamburg-American Company's vast fleet exceed the 600-foot limit by margins running from 8½ feet up to 105. The other immense German company, the North German Lloyd, has three ships over 600 feet long. The smallest of the trio is 649 feet. The greatest is 707.

There are four giants of the White Star line which measure more than 600 feet in length. They range from 700 feet to 726. The largest ships under the American flag are the two 630-foot steamers of the Great Northern railroad line, which ply between Puget Sound and Asia. They have extreme breadth of beam and depth and their cargo capacity is almost unmatched.

Favorable Comparison.

There are just 18 steamships on the salt seas of the earth which exceed 600 feet in length. The lakes will soon have two of that class. Many of the ocean liners which are of extreme length are built for speed, not carrying capacity. Their engines are enormously heavy, and their lines are sharp. Supplies for passengers require much room, and the cabins are like half a cargo.

On the other hand a few freight steamships on the high seas which do not reach 600 feet in length can carry more than 13,000 tons. Altogether it is probable that the number of ocean vessels which exceed the freight capacity of the two giants ordered for the lake fleet of the steel trust is about equal to the number that will surpass them in length. The salt water marine of the world will have about a score of boats bigger than the largest on the lakes.

Words cannot add to the impressiveness of such facts as a demonstration of the wonderful development of the merchant shipping of the inland seas of North America.—Cleveland Leader.

Is the Earth a Plane?

Apparently having noted the statement in a recent issue of the Republican that Springfield is 65.8 feet above sea level, Aurin F. Hill of Boston, who is described as an architect, sends the following highly interesting letter:

"Springfield is about 100 miles from Boston. Is this grade at Springfield correct? If the earth were a globe 8,500 miles in diameter Springfield ought to be about 6,966 above or below Boston. Is it? Can our engineers survey a level and straight line—a horizontal line—from Boston to Springfield? I think they can." I think they did it, and by their works prove that this earth is a plane and stands fast. They prove by their works that water is level—straight on its surface. Consider the curvature on a globe 8,000 miles in diameter at the center circle; also at what we call 42 degrees north latitude, going east or west. We are living on a plane that stands fast."—Springfield Republican.

The Recession of Niagara Falls.

Horseshoe Fall has receded more than 260 feet within the memory of living men, and is now traveling toward Lake Erie at the rate of fully 500 feet a century. At present the crest of this fall, as its name implies, has the general outline of a horseshoe, and its length is about 3,000 feet, but if the present rate of erosion continues the length of the crest may reach 8,000 feet or more within the next half millennium. Now the Canadian end of the Horseshoe Fall is a few rods upstream from the spot whence Table Rock has fallen into the gorge, but the indications are that this end of the cataract will gradually retire toward the Dufferin islands, leaving a bare cliff as the apex cuts it way upstream.—Scientific American.

THE OLD MILL.

Here from the brow of the hill I look,
Through the lattice of boughs and leaves,
On the old gray mill with its gambrel roof,
And the moss on its rotting eaves;
I hear the clatter that jars its walls,
And the rushing water's sound,
And I see the black floats rise and fall
As the wheel goes slowly around.

I rode there often when I was young
With my grist on the horse before,
And talked with Nelly, the miller's girl,
As I waited my turn at the door;
And while she tossed her ringlets brown,
And flirted and chatted so free,
The wheel might stop or the wheel might go,
It was all the same to me.

'Tis twenty years since last I stood
On the spot where I stand today,
And Nelly is wed, and the miller is dead,
And the mill and I are gray.
But both, till we fall in ruin and wreck,
To our fortune of toil are bound;
And the man goes, and the stream flows,
And the wheel moves slowly round.

HEIRESS PREFERS TEACHING SCHOOL

She Intends Establishing a School for the Children of Rich Parents.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—An heiress to $625,000, who prefers to teach school to living in idleness, is causing plenty of conversation up in the neighborhood of Edgecomb road and One Hundred and Seventieth street. She is Mrs. Lilian Isadie Kilcoyne, and although she is joint heir to an estate left by her mother, Mrs. F. Radle, who died recently, she will continue her work of teaching.

"Because I have acquired a fortune," said Mrs. Kilcoyne, "is no reason for my giving up being useful in life. It would be impossible for me to settle down and do nothing. And now that my mother's money has been left me, I will carry out a dream of my life—that is, to found a school for the children of the rich, where they will receive kindness, care, a mother's attention and splendid mental education at the same time. I have been in so many homes where children have been left to the care of servants and governesses, and who, in spite of the educational advantages thrown at them, have grown up perfect heathens, with no knowledge of the responsibilities of life and of society. My idea is to give them a rounded character, to give them brilliant minds, healthy bodies and contented hearts. I have been with children all my life, and even my marriage could not keep me from my work."

Jerome's Name Not on Tammany Slate.

It was unofficially announced at Tammany headquarters today that William Travers Jerome is not on the Tammany slate. The county slate has been made up and is only waiting for convention time to name the candidates officially. While the name of the candidate for district attorney is not given out positively, Eugene A. Philbin is referred to quite often. Only recently Mr. Philbin addressed a letter to Charles F. Murphy declaring that Mayor McClellan should be re-elected.

Crests and Monograms Latest Fad.

"The people nowadays seem to be going crazy on crests and monograms," said the head laundryman of one of the big hotels. "One guest staying here just now has his coat-of-arms on the front and back of his nightshirt embroidered in gold and occupying a space of nearly a square foot. Another has his family crest woven on his socks in vari-colored silk thread. Many also have their crest or monogram done up on the lapels of their collars and vest. Frequently, too, collars, cuffs and shirts come down here with the crests of the owners neatly stamped on them in indelible ink or handsomely embroidered."

This Beats Pink Lizard.

Several fishermen were waiting for results at the Patten line pier last night, when one of the number felt a desperate tugging at his line. When he landed his catch he found he had hooked an eel about three feet long and as thick as his wrist. Not only was the eel remarkable for its size, but it was a bright yellow color, with the exception of a small white streak along its under side. "It is no uncommon species," he was told by Superintendent Denyse of the aquarium, "but is simply one of the freaks of nature. Fishermen in these waters frequently catch eels that are a bright orange color, and others that are absolutely white. We had one here some years ago that was a brilliant orange."

Plans for Plaza Hotel Filed.

Plans have been filed for the new Plaza hotel, to be built on the Plaza, Fifth avenue, from Fifty-eighth to Fifth-ninth streets, for the Plaza Operating Company, of which H. Beinecke is president. It is to be 18 stories and fireproof, with a mansard roof, and facades of brick trimmed with limestone and terra-cotta. It will front 200.10 feet on the Plaza and 125 and 250 feet on Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth streets, respectively. Its height will be 252 feet, and the cost is estimated at $2,500,000.

Lace Making at Irish Fair.

The Irish fair in Madison Square garden today is more brilliant and interesting than on the opening day. Flags of all nations decorate the garden, and in the center of the floor is a pillar of bottles of Irish whisky. The display of Irish lace is the principal feature of the industrial exhibits, much of it selling for $50 a yard. Irish girls from industrial schools in Roscommon and Meath counties are busily making this lace, while others and the sisters of charity who had them in charge were weaving rugs.

SOME GOOD STORIES OF PITH AND MOMENT

Gossipy Chat and Anecdote of Entertaining and Instructive Character.

A Connellsville correspondent of The Gazette furnished the following irite story: A minister in a certain town was upbraiding a little six year old son of one of his neighbors for using profane language, and as the minister was quite a favorite of the children, the little fellow promised him he would not use such language again. Not many days after this the minister overheard the same boy using language that would not look well in print, and the next time he encountered him he said: "Willie, you are swearing again; I thought you promised me you would not use such language any more."

"Who told you I was?" asked Willie.

"A little bird told he," replied the minister.

Willie looked thoughtful for a few moments and then said, "I'll bet it was one of those d—— English sparrows."

More Particular Than the King.

The following story has just been told by King Leopold of the Belgians, the most democratic of monarchs, to a friend:

"I was dining," said his majesty, "in a Paris restaurant, and noticed at a table next to me Tod Sloan, the American jockey, whom I had often seen on Longchamps race course. While waiting for my dinner I saw him taste some fried potatoes that had been brought him and tell the waiter, angrily, to take them away.

"I was a little annoyed," added the king, "as I had also ordered fried potatoes, and when they came up I had no difficulty in discovering that they were the same which the jockey has just refused."

"And," asked his friend, 'you immediately summoned the restaurant keeper and had the waiter discharged?"

"No," said the king. "I ate them. I thought it would injure the business of the place if I sent them away.

"Which shews," he added, "that a jockey can afford to be more particular than a king."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Brought Them to Time.

One of the rural schools in Kansas has a pretty girl as its teacher, but she was troubled at first because many of her pupils were late every morning. At last she made the announcement that she would kiss the first pupil to arrive at the schoolhouse the next morning. At sunrise the three largest boys of her class were sitting on the doorstep of the schoolhouse, and by 5 o'clock every boy in the school and four directors were waiting for her to arrive.—New York Tribune.

His Cold Day Came at Last.

When a woman makes up her mind to do a thing she usually does it. This woman did. In the middle of the block she hurried to the back platform and said:

"Stop on this side of Ninety-eighth street, please."

"Can't do it," said the conductor. "We stop on the off side of the street only."

The woman caught his eye. She was good looking, and she had a way about her.

"I wish to get off at the nearest corner," she said, gently, but decisively.

The conductor blushed. "It's against the rules," he said, but he rang the bell.

The motorman looked back wonderingly. When he understood the cause of the unexpected signal he smiled contemptuously.

"Poor old Bill," he sighed. "He's soft. It'll be a cold day when I can be bamboozled that way by any woman."

Before the car started again a truck got stalled across the tracks and delayed progress for five minutes. When the car finally reached the opposite corner a woman stepped out and hailed the motorman.

"Let me in here please," she said.

"Gate's locked," he growled. 'Go to the back platform."

"The street is muddy," said the woman. "I do not want to walk back there. I wish to get in here, if you please."

"Well, I'll be blessed," grumbled the motorman. But he opened the gate.

Presently the conductor came through for the woman's fare.

"I won't pay again," she said. "I made a mistake. "I want to get off at Eighty-eighth street instead of Ninety-eighth."

The motorman heard the argument and turned around. A look of astonishment overspread his face.

"Great Scott, Bill," he gasped, "is that the same one?"

"Same one, said Bill.

"I guess," said the motorman, "my cold day has come."—New York Sun.

A Joke of Official Record.

This joke is on record in the war department: A young officer was rejected by the war board for promotion, because of defective eyes. The mother of the young man wrote to Senator Platt of New York and begged him to save her son, closing the letter thus: "I leave it all to you and the Lord." The senator wrote the secretary of war to this effect: "I have noticed that when a matter is left to me and the Lord I am held responsible in case of failure; therefore I beg that you will assist me."

Twin Qualities That Will Win.

The policy concerning the Panama canal enunciated by the president to the consulting board of engineers is wholly commendable. In brief, it is to construct the best canal in the shortest time. The two supremely desirable qualities are promptness and efficiency, and they are coordinate. STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

Pittsburgh one, two and three decades ago was pictured in an interesting way by a "north countryman" of England at the Monongahela house last evening in a chat with friends. The gentleman from England is Joshua Horne, whose home is in what is known as the "north country" near Leeds, as distinguished from the "south country" at London and along the south shore. Mr. Horne is spending his annual vacation in a trip around the world with his daughter, Miss K. E. Horne.

"This is a wonderful city to grow," said Mr. Horne to a railroad man with whom he was talking, "and I am astonished at the great progress that you American people here have made in the past 10 years. It was just 10 years ago this summer that I last visited Pittsburgh while in America, and in that time the city has changed from a black manufacturing town to a progressive city that is so far ahead, especially in its commercial appearance, that one would hardly recognize it except for the smoke that will not down, and the smoke that I am sure the people would not want to have stop flowing from and from the city. The buildings that have gone up in that time down in the city are models of modern commercial enterprise. There is also a vast difference from the city that I saw when I first came here 29 years ago, and different from the city I saw when I came at intervals from then to 10 years ago.

"There is nothing of interest in my visit here. My daughter and myself are just taking our vacation in a trip to Australia. We are going by way of America and the Pacific ocean and returning to England by way of the Indian ocean route. Pittsburgh and Idaho, which a states of note is living are the two places in America that we shall especially visit. I should have enjoyed going to the fair at Portland, but when I found that there would be three days longer required for the visit there I scouted the idea at once. For a long trip of this kind, with our itinerary pretty well mapped out, we cannot afford to have it broken by such a visit as that would be.

"By the way, you have a bad system of first-class passenger trains here. Rather, I should say, perhaps, that it is not a good thing when one buys what is expected to be a first-class ticket that he must also pay an extra amount to ride in the train. If it is properly understood it may be all right, of course, but I could not understand it. In England when I travel first class I am given the very best that the Midland or Great Central or any other road has to give—the very best of the sleeping or parlor cars and dining service. But on some of your American trains we have to pay extra besides the ticket and Pullman fare. American railroads are excellent in some ways, but they can copy a good deal from England and still be short of some of the good things of English railways."

"Let the Heathen Rage."

Speaking of the awful strain upon the individual taxpayer, it is interesting to note that the net revenue of the state last year from personal property was $337,723 or about five cents per capita. Less than three per cent of the total revenue of the state in 1904 came from individuals, and a magnificent capitol is being built without the people feeling the burden. Practically out of debt and with unlimited resources the proud old state in which we live can afford to let the heathen rage and imagine a vain thing.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

Effort of Fusionists to Cause Trouble in the Republican Camp Not Successful.

COMPLETE VOTE IN COUNTY

The Citizens are finding they cannot get consolation out of the Republican primaries. Numerous attempts have been made to show there are many sore spots in the Republican ranks, but the stories have not been borne out by the facts. All of the defeated candidates are enthusiastic for the ticket.

Effort has been made to show that the nomination of the Republican ticket was dependent upon the vote cast in Pittsburgh. All of the candidates, with one exception, had majorities without their Pittsburgh votes. Fairman could have lost the 8,158 given him in Pittsburgh and still had a majority of 538 over Cochrane and Lowry. Dodds, without his 8,408 votes received in Pittsburgh, has a majority of 290 over Reed. In the commissioner fight Price and Campbell could have spared the larger portion of their Pittsburgh vote and still won.

The complete returns from the primaries are in. They show the following total vote for the candidates for these offices:

Recorder—Fairman, 20,488; Cochrane, 6,758; Lowry, 5,174. Clerk of courts—Dodds, 19,600; Reed, 10,911. Commissioners—Campbell, 21,605; Price, 20,984; Murray, 14,154. The total vote of the county for recorder is 32,420.

The retiring board will not complete the appointment of the presidential vote before tomorrow. It expects to be able to make a final announcement at 3 o'clock tomorrow. At the meeting yesterday the disputed districts were considered. The Second district of Wilkins township arrived by mail yesterday morning. The board decided to reject it, believing a bad precedent would be established if the returns were received. A general rule was established that returns will be received where they comply sufficiently with the rules to show what was done at the primaries. Under this rule the following disputed districts were disposed of in this manner: Counted—First of Fifth ward, Pittsburgh; Third of Sixth ward, Pittsburgh; Twelfth of the Twentieth ward, Pittsburgh; First of Thirtieth ward, Pittsburgh; Second of Thirty-Fourth ward, Pittsburgh; First of Elizabeth township; Rejected—First of Twelfth ward, Pittsburgh; Third of the Thirtieth ward, Pittsburgh; First and Fifth of the Thirty-seventh ward, Pittsburgh; Greentree, Haysville; Fifth of Mifflin township.

From these districts no returns were received—Eighth of Twentieth ward, Pittsburgh; Thirty-third ward, Pittsburgh; Eleventh of Third ward, Allegheny; Second of Eighth ward, Allegheny; Fourth of Thirteenth ward, Allegheny; Glenfield, Braddock township; Sixth of Chartiers township; Third of Collier township; Crescent township; Kennedy township; Second of Leet township; Second and Fourth of Lower St. Clair township; Second of McCandless township; Second of North Fayette township; Third and Fourth of North Versailles township; Second of Reserve township; Sewickley township; First of Shaler township; Fourth of South Fayette township; South Versailles township; Second of Versailles township.

A preliminary order was made yesterday, fixing Saturday at 10 o'clock for a hearing on two petitions for the appointment of a judge of an election, and an inspector of election in the First district of the Third ward. John Tarel, who was elected judge, and Frank Nordozza, the inspector, have resigned.

ELECT PITTSBURGHERS.

Charles W. Scovel and William M. Wood Chosen to High Offices by Insurance Underwriters.

A telegram was received from Hartford, Conn., last night announcing that the National Life Underwriters' association, which is holding its annual convention there, had honored the Pittsburgh Life Underwriters' association, by electing two of its members to important places. Charles W. Scovel, manager of Western Pennsylvania of the Provident Savings Life, was elected president of the National association, and William M. Woods of the United States Life and secretary of the local association, was elected a member of the executive committee.

Mr. Scovel is a graduate of the Western university, studied law at the Columbia Law school, N. Y., and at the University of Berlin, Germany. He practiced for several years, serving also as secretary of the Allegheny County Bar association. In 1897 he entered the insurance business and has twice been president of the local underwriters' association. His connection with the Pittsburgh orchestra and the Art society, has made him prominent in other lines.

Mr. Wood came to Pittsburgh in 1898 to represent the United States Life? A year later he became secretary of the local association, and has held that office ever since. The election of both Pittsburghers was unanimous. The Pittsburgh association is the second oldest in the country.

FIND TWO DEAD BABIES.

Corpses of Babes Are Laid Side by Side at Allegheny County Morgue Last Night.

The bodies of two dead babies lay side by side in the Allegheny county morgue last night. One was found at the foot of Nineteenth street. The other was picked up in the Allegheny market house. There were no marks on either child which would lead to its identification. At the morgue the tiny corpses were registered as unknown.

It is recorded as a strange coincidence that the bodies have not been identified. The finding of two dead babies in a single day establishes an unusual precedent at the morgue. There is no means by which either can be identified.

Offices for Pittsburghers.

At the state convention of the Independent Order of Americans here today, the following officers were elected and installed: State councilor, Harry E. Walker, Philadelphia; state vice councilor, W. STATE TO SUE GAMBLING HOUSE

Effort Will Be Made to Recover Money Lost by Indiana's Auditor.

REDUCING THE SHORTAGE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 20.—According to Attorney General Charles W. Miller, who now has in charge the legal matters pertaining to the alleged defalcation of David E. Sherrick, ex-auditor of state, the state will make an effort to collect the money which it is charged was lost by Sherrick at the gaming tables.

"The state has the right to follow and collect all funds belonging to the state used by Mr. Sherrick," said Mr. Miller.

"Does that mean that the state will attempt to recover the money lost by Sherrick's gambling?"

"I think that my statement covers your question," replied Mr. Miller.

The amount referred to as lost by gambling was the $10,000 that Gov. Hanly, in his speech yesterday at Hamilton, Ind., said Sherrick lost at French Lick in April, 1903. It is understood, however, that the governor has evidence that other sums have been lost in the same way at different times during the last two years. If this money can be recovered, the amount to be made up by the bonding company will be reduced just so much.

It now develops that the American Surety Company will not make any fight for the application of the sureties, aggregating a face value of about $172,000, that are now in possession of Attorney General Miller, and that the state will have entire charge of these securities. The state, therefore, will not lose a dollar.

By tomorrow morning the shortage of Sherrick will be reduced to $121,372 by the payment into the state treasury of $19,325 that is now on deposit in the Farmers and Merchants bank at Cicero, Ind. No new estimate has as yet been made for the real value of the other securities turned over by Sherrick.

AUTOISTS WILL WORK WITH HORSE-OWNERS

BELLEFONTE, PA., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—The automobile association of Center county was organized here this evening with the following officers: president, George C. Watson, State college; vice president, A. C. Mingle, Bellefonte; secretary and treasurer, Robert F. Hunter, Bellefonte; executive committee, George C. Watson and C. D. Fehr, State college; John Porter, Lyon, and Robert F. Hunter, Bellefonte. The purpose of the association is not to antagonize horse owners, but to promote the benefit of horse owners mutually with that of automobilists.

BURTON DEMURS TO NEW INDICTMENT

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.—In the United States circuit court today United States Senator J. R. Burton of Kansas, charged with appearing before the postoffice department to prevent the issuance of a fraud order against the Rialto Grain and Securities Company of St. Louis, entered a demurrer, through his attorney, against the new indictment returned against him since the supreme court nullified a former indictment on technical grounds.

SENTENCED UNDER LAW HE FATHERED

LEAVENWORTH, KAS., Sept. 20.—Ira N. Terrill, a noted Oklahoma convict serving a sentence in the Kansas penitentiary, was yesterday declared insane and will be returned to the territory. Terrill was the author of the capital punishment law of Oklahoma, and was the first person to be convicted after it became effective. His sentence was commuted.

Church Calls a Pastor.

At a congregational meeting of the Seventh United Presbyterian church, Forty-fourth and Lawrence streets, last night, a unanimous call was extended to the Rev. J. W. Griffin of Elizabeth, Pa., to become the pastor. Ten others were considered. The Rev. W. A. Phillips of the East End was the moderator at last night's meeting. This church has been without a pastor since April 1, when the Rev. J. B. McIsaac resigned the pastorate to become pastor of the Deer creek church at Bakerstown.

Says Kurkisci Used Revolver.

Joseph Kurkisci was committed to jail yesterday by Alderman John Groetzinger to await a hearing on a charge of felonious assault and battery. The information is made by James McAnally of Wilmerding, who alleges that Kurkisci discharged a revolver at Officer Miles Riley, doing him bodily harm.

The Death Roll.

Miss Elizabeth J. M. Phillips.

Miss Elizabeth J. M. Phillips, a daughter of the late Moses and Elizabeth Winebiddle Phillips, died yesterday at 3:30 o'clock at her home, 6217 Penn avenue, East End. She was born in the East End and spent her entire life in this city. She was active in church work and was a member of the Fourth Presbyterian congregation. Miss Phillips is survived by one brother, William W. Phillips, of this city. Funeral services will be held from her late residence tomorrow at 2 p. m. and will be in charge of the Rev. W. P. Shrom, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Hulda Darrell.

Mrs. Hulda Darrell of North Braddock died yesterday morning of apoplexy at the home of her son, William Darrell, Fifteenth street. She had been ill a week. She was born 62 years ago at Confluence, Pa., and had been a resident of Braddock for about 20 years. She was a member of the Methodist Protestant church. One son, William, and a sister, Mrs. Jonathan Frantz of Swissvale, survive. The remains will be taken to Confluence for burial Friday morning.

Mrs. Louisa Meyer.

Mrs. Louisa Meyer, aged 81, died Tuesday at her home on St. Martins street. She was born in Germany and came to this country when a girl. She was married 50 years ago to Frank P. Meyer, a carpenter, who died 23 years ago. She leaves one child, Miss Clara Meyer, with whom she lived.

Mrs. Eliza J. Logan.

APOLLO, Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Mrs. Eliza J. Logan died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. K. Williard, last night, from apoplexy, while on a visit. Her husband, John Logan, was the founder of Logansport on the Allegheny river, from which place she will be buried tomorrow. Mrs. Logan was aged 67 years.

Robert S. Barckley.

Robert S. Barckley, aged 36, clerk in the county recorder's office, died yesterday noon at his home, 49 Rowley street. He was born in this city and was a son of Samuel and Jane Barckley.

Obituary Notes.

William Mason, aged 70 years, who resided near Irwin, died last evening. Three brothers survive him—Hugh and Patrick of Turtle Creek and Charles of Pittsburgh.

NEW CASTLE, Sept. 20.—(Special.)—David Louis, aged 67, a Civil war veteran, died last night on his farm, 10 miles east of here, where he was born. He is survived by his widow, seven children and two brothers.

Robert Conley, aged 22, died at his home in Braddock avenue, Braddock, last evening. He was the son of J. W. Conley of Braddock and was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

John Burkhardt, aged 46, died at his residence in Talbot avenue, Braddock, last night. He was born in Munroe county, Ohio, but of late had been engaged in business in Braddock. He is survived by his widow and four children.

Miss Mary Barr, aged 57, daughter of Thomas Barr, a retired farmer, is dead at the residence of her brother, E. A. Barr, in Ben Avon. Miss Barr was born in Allegheny and had resided there all her life. She was a member of the Sandusky Street Reformed Presbyterian church.

Ambrose C. Arrick, aged 55, a former fruit grower of Blaine, O., died yesterday at his home, 923 Beech avenue, Allegheny, of heart failure. He was born in Ohio and was a son of Charles H. and Elizabeth C. Arrick. He had been a resident of Allegheny for about [illegible] months.

GEORGE GOULD ALSO IS HUNTING FOR PROXIES

His Agents Keep Telephone Wires Hot in the Financial District of New York—Brokers Afraid of Him.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]
NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—George J. Gould today scored a point over Joseph Ramsey, Jr., president of the Wabash railroad, in the contest which has arisen between them over the control of the road. Representatives of Mr. Gould kept the telephone wires in the financial district busy all day calling up banking and brokerage houses and requesting them to give to Mr. Gould their holdings in Wabash securities.

It is understood the Gould interests obtained a large number of proxies. A member of one big banking and commission house candidly admitted that, while his sympathies in a way were with Mr. Ramsey, he had promised his proxies to the other side, as he did not desire to incur the displeasure, if not the enmity, of the Gould interests.

Many brokerage concerns, however, it is said, have refused to pledge their proxies to either side in the Wabash. They hold stock in their own names for hundreds of out-of-town customers who are in distant sections of the country and cannot easly be reached. These brokers hold it would be an injustice in them to transfer the voting power of the properties of other men without the consent of the latter.

CHOLERA ON THE INCREASE.

Fatalities and New Cases Are Reported Throughout the German Empire.

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—The official bulletin issued today anounces that six fresh cholera cases and one death have been reported from non yesterday to noon today, making the total 213 cases and 75 deaths.

BROMBERG, PRUSSIA, Sept. 20.—One new case of cholera has occurred here.

STETTIN, PRUSSIA, Sept. 20.—One death from cholera has been reported in this town.

MARIANWERDER, WEST PRUSSIA, Sept. 20.—Five cases of cholera have been discovered in three localities in this administrative district.

SMALL DOG WITH RABIES ROUTS CLERKS AND SHOPPERS

Frothing at the mouth and showing every indication of having rabies, a small dog rushed into the department store of Joseph McKay in Walnut street, McKeesport, yesterday afternoon and created a panic among the shoppers and female clerks. Miss Minnie Davis and Miss Sadie Crump, saleswomen, fainted from fright, while the screams of the others could be heard for blocks. It was at lunch time and not a man was about the store at the time. The dog got away.

Slodie Proves His Friendship.

Policeman John Slodie of Allegheny last night showed in a substantial way his friendship for Joe Andrelwich. The latter was one of a number of Slavs arrested by Slodie during a boarding house fight. When all of the fighters had been sent to the police station Slodie peeled three $10 bill from a roll of money and put up a forfeit for Andrelwich's release.

Quarrel Has Fatal Ending.

CUMBERLAND MD., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—John Rhoades, a farmer living four miles south of Hendricks, W. Va., was shot and killed today by Solomon K. Arbogast, a neighbor. The wives and daughters of the men were quarreling, which ended in a fist fight in which Rhoades and Arbogast joined. Arbogast was arrested by Policeman Flanigan and lodged in Hendricks police station.

DUCHESS OF MARLBOROUGH CALLS ON THE PRESIDENT

For the First Time in History of Sagamore Hill an Automobile Is Allowed on the Grounds.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]
OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 20.—In deference to the duchess of Marlborough, the strictest of all rules at Sagamore Hill was suspended today. Mr. Clarence H. Mackay's big automobile, that brought the duchess and Mr. and Mrs. Mackay to the president's home, was the first automobile ever allowed on the grounds heretofore sacred to the horse and the rare pedestrian. Even Miss Alice Roosevelt was obliged last year, much to her discomfiture, to leave a friend's automobile and climb Sagamore Hill on foot in the darkness.

Mr. Mackay's automobile arrived from Roslyn at the president's door exactly at the hour of appointment, 3 o'clock. The duchess of Marlborough wore a fine white afternoon dress and a large picture hat of pale heliotrope. Mrs. Mckay's dress was of ecru.

The visitors were received in the library by President and Mrs. Roosevelt. They remained but 30 minutes; it is understood that the call was made at the request of the duchess, who expressed a desire to her hosts at Roslyn of meeting the president before her return to Europe.

DISTRESS IS INCREASED.

More Earthquake Shocks and Violent Storms Are Experienced in Italy.

MONTELEONA, ITALY, Sept. 20.—Further light shocks of earthquake and violent storms today, extending over the whole of Calabria, added to the distress of the stricken population. Lightning caused a fire at Olivadi, which destroyed the remaining property belonging to survivors of the earthquake. Panics occurred at Cantanzaro and Reggio, where several buildings were struck by lightning.

NAPLES, Sept. 20.—Finocchiaro Aprile, minister of justice, left here today on board a torpedo boat destroyer for Calabria, for the purpose of superintending the organizadon of government relief measures for sufferers by the earthquake.

Brings Redman From Bellaire.

Louis Redman, alias Rosenberg, was committed to jail yesterday on a charge of larceny. He is one of the two young men who are charged with the theft of 500 feet of copper wire from the Central District and Printing Telegraph Company. When he was arrested his brother furnished bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the hearing, but is said to have left the city. Alderman Alpern then had him indicted before the grand jury, and yesterday a constable went to Bellaire, O., where he found him.

Pledge Large Subscriptions.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COL., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—The information was given out here today that Andrew Carnegie, Helen Gould and W. R. Hearst had pledged large subscriptions to the building of a letter carriers' home in Colorado Springs. Carnegie is credited with subscribing $25,000, and Miss Gould and Mr. Hearst each $10,000. It is proposed to build a home that will cost in the neighborhood of $150,000.

Brings Charge Against Father.

Frederick Wright, Sr., was committed to jail last night by J. W. Hughes, justice of the peace of Etna, on a charge of felonious assault and battery made by his daughter, Mrs. Lillie Rome. Wright is the man who is alleged to have tried to kill Mrs. Rome a week ago at her home in Etna and to have attempted suicide by cutting his throat.

Banker Is Sentenced.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—W. H. Hunt, formerly president of the defunct Pan-American bank, was today sentenced to the penitentiary and ordered by Judge Kersten to pay a fine of $298.

SHOOTING THE CHUTES WHILE BRIDE MOURNS

Bridegroom Is In Pittsburgh When He Should Be Marrying a Pastor's Daughter.

While the bride-elect, her parents and wedding guests were gathered yesterday afternoon in the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal church at Smithfield, Pa., the bridegroom was presumably in Pittsburgh having a good time. Anyway, the wedding ceremony was not performed, and fears for the young man's safety were freely expressed, the bride being almost prostrated by anxiety.

Roy L. Kent, bookkeeper for a Sharon coke company, was to be the bridegroom. On Tuesday, with the father of the bride, the Rev. F. R. Peters, pastor of the Smithfield Methodist Episcopal church, who was to perform the ceremony, Kent went to Uniontown to get the marriage license. The father's presence was necessary because the young lady is under age. After securing the license Kent excused himself for a few minutes, saying he wanted to get his suit pressed. Mr. Peters waited for Kent at an appointed place, but the young man failed to keep his engagement and has not been seen since at Smithfield.

Rumors of foul play quickly started. These were set at rest by the discovery that Kent spent Tuesday night in Pittsburgh at the Griswold hotel. He went to Luna park Tuesday evening and returned without his hat. He explained this by saying he had lost it while shooting the chutes. He stayed at the hotel until morning when he paid his bill and left without saying where he was going.

TOMBSTONE WRECKERS ARE STILL AT WORK

ESCANABA, MICH., Sept. 20.—Following similar attacks on the Roman Catholic cemeteries at Oconto Falls, Peshtigo and Birch Creek, vandals last night went through St. Joseph's and St. Anne's cemeteries here, and demolished the crosses on over 200 monuments, causing damage estimated at $4,000.

exposition

We expect everyone who comes to the city today to pay the store a visit.

You have been prepared for, with collections of the latest in all lines of merchandise from all parts of the world, all price to prove we sell choice goods less.

Silks, Dress Goods, Ready-made Garments, Millinery—In all the 67 departments each with the choicest and best goods of its kind, including showings of Rugs and Curtains for superior to what stores usually present, you'll find attractive welcome.

suits and coats

The variety now presented is of such remarkable extent and excellence that it would appear to be almost imperative for every woman who considers her own interest to get here and see the showings.

So many store ads have made statements of similar nature not warranted by the facts, that the importance of this may appear doubtful to you, but give us the benefit of the doubt just this once and come and see.

The collection of the new long Coat Suits, $13.50 to $75.00, now being submitted, shows tone and superiority which of itself, and certainly in consideration of the low prices attached, must have its effect.

As at other times, we have made strenuous efforts to produce extraordinary suits to sell at $25.00 and $35.00.

Will you come and see to what flattering extent we have succeeded?

Eton Suits in new models and new shades—Garnets, Purples, Blues, Greens, etc., $30.00 to $65.00.

Choice collection of dressy Costumes, $40.00 to $90.00.

We've never shown such Evening Costumes as here at present—rich and elegant to a degree that will delight the women who see them beyond measure.

Prices, $40.00 to $225.00.

The price range for new Coats, including Tan, Black and Fancy Mixtures is from $10.00 to $42.50 and you'll be surprised to find what excellence in style and material may be obtained at the very first price—TEN DOLLARS.

Black Cheviot Coats, 30 inches long with braid and velvet trimming and satin lined throughout, $10.00.

Evening Coats—Broadcloths, Silks, etc.—White, Black, Tan, Castor, Grey, Red, Garnet, etc., $35.00 to $175.00.

Raincoats—latest styles and materials, $10.00 to $40.00.

Special lines of Girls' Dresses at $5.00—Blue and Brown Serge—Russian Dresses with embroidered emblems—Fancy Grey Mixtures with red embroidered emblem and Blue Serge "Regulation" Suits.

Other fine Cashmere, Challis, Serge and Broadcloth Dresses, $6.50 to $45.00.

fall lingerie blouses

Every advice that comes from Fashion centers reiterates that Lingerie Blouses are "the thing" for fall wear.

Not, however, without an underlining of silk in some delicate shade of Pink, Blue, Green or White.

The effect of such an arrangement is delightfully pleasing.

A great lot of fall Lingerie Blouses just arriving from the east.

They're all ready this morning—and we think it not too bold a claim that it is the largest and best showing of a style the store ever attempted.

All plain White—dozens of very different styles—Lawns, Batiste, Handkerchief Linen and heavy Linen.

Price range, $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, $2.25, $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $5.00, where the variety is exceptional up to $22.50, which latter price is for French handmade Waists of a superior class.

Come today and see these and take a special look at the styles for $1.00, $2.00 and $3.00.

embroidered handkerchiefs

Over in Ireland we have an agent who knows some women who delight to embroider—for pastime as well as for money—and, of course, do it better.

To these women we annually consign a number of Handkerchiefs for people who wish to give embroidered Handkerchiefs for Christmas.

In order to have this work done and back to America by Christmas we can't accept orders after October 15th—but up to that time we'll be glad to have the work done for any who care for it.

All Handkerchiefs come back beautifully laundered—arranged in fancy boxes and tied with ribbons in Christmas colors.

These women make initials, autographs and monograms—either on Handkerchiefs or Table Linen at very moderate charges.

Large assortment of Handkerchiefs and specimen designs to select from.

HERMES AND HAYS HAVE BIG RUMPUS

Mayor Tries to Stop Auto Race and the Sixth Ward Councilman Gets Very Angry.

RED DEVIL NO. 800 IS BEATEN

That 18,000-cowpower automobile No. 800, of Peter Hermes, which has a record of having killed more dogs and having knocked over more Italians than any other whizz wagon in this city, met its first waterloo, when the dawn broke over the hills of Highland park yesterday morning. The owner of the Sixth ward red devil tried out his speed with W. C. Temple and got the worst of it. One of the consequences of the race is that Hermes and Mayor Hays don't love each other any more. But they will make it up all right.

Peter Hermes is proud of his machine. After his wild spin down the Freeport road about six months ago he reached the conclusion that it was about the fastest thing in Pittsburgh. Mr. Temple denied the assertion, and a race was arranged on the Beechwood boulevard speedway for 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mayor Hays has boarded with Mr. Hermes for the last 15 years, and when the race was arranged on Tuesday night the chief executive of the city was called up at midnight in his pajamas.

"I've a race on with Temple in the morning," said Hermes.

"I won't permit it," said the mayor.

Hermes thought his honor was joking and went back to bed, after setting his alarm clock to buzz at 5 o'clock. He thought he was getting up early in the morning, but when he arrived at the speedway shortly after sun-up and espied Supt. Alexander Wallace and a squad of policemen, he realized that the mayor had stolen a march on him. Mr. Temple was on hand and everything was ready for the trial.

Just what happened is not clear. Supt. Wallace declares he prohibited the race and left two of his officers on the ground until 9 o'clock to prevent the reckless chauffuers from engaging in the dangerous sport. Hermes is silent, but Mr. Temple's friends say that he ran away from the Sixth ward man's auto and won the race with ease, after the superintendent of police and his officers left the scene.

Hermes was real indignant yesterday. He declares the mayor had no call to "butt in." He calls the attention of whom it may concern that he is the political Warwick of Mayor Hays, and characterizes the attempt to prevent the race as a "dirty trick." Supt. Wallace has posted a bet of $100 that the race did not take place, on the boulevard speedway.

After all the world continues to go around as usual. Motor cars are still operated by gasoline and Hermes' cows were milked as usual last night. None of the temples in the Sixth ward have been sundered and the mayor still eats sour meat at the Sixth ward councilman's frugal board—and the sun likely will rise in the east as usual hereafter.

PITTSBURGHER IS PLEASED.

Consul Long Says Recent Diplomatic Triumphs Improve America's Standing Abroad.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(Special.)—James Vernon Long of Pittsburgh, consul to Patras, Greece, is in Washington conferring with the officials at the state department. Mr. Long is en route from Pittsburgh to his post, after an extended leave of absence. In speaking of the duties of his position, Mr. Long says:

"I have a delightful post, my environments are all that one could desire. The recent diplomatic triumphs of the United States have improved the standing of the representatives of America in every country. Diplomats of other countries now realize that the United States is one of the greatest powers of the world."

Its Twentieth Anniversary.

There was a large attendance at the session of the Women's Home Missionary Society of Pittsburgh and Allegheny presbyteries at the Oakmont Presbyterian church yesterday. Mrs. S. C. Farrar presided. The meeting celebrated the 20th anniversary of the organization of the Oakmont society. Refreshments were served.

THE THREE RIVERS

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 8 o'clock last night was 4.2 feet and the river was stationary.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.—At 6 p. m. the Ohio river at Cincinnati was 14 feet and falling. The flood tide of the last rise has passed Cincinnati and the river is falling from Pittsburgh to below Cincinnati. There is no prospect of another rise for some time to come. The present water in the river, however, will serve to hold a navigable stage for some days to come. All of the towboats have passed up the river and none remain expect the harbor boats. All packets in and out of Cincinnati are running on schedule time and enjoying good business. Clear and pleasant.

MARIETTA, O.—River 6 feet and stationary. Kanawha due down Thursday morning.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA.—River 6.5 feet and falling. Clear and warm. The Bedford left at 4 a. m. for Wheeling.

POINT PLEASANT, W. VA.—River 5 feet 11 inches and falling. Cloudy. Up—Charles Brown, Douglas Hall, Lucy Marmet, Sam Brown. Down—Tacoma.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA.—River 6 feet 3 inches and falling. Fair.

OIL CITY—River 1 foot 1 inch and stationary. Clear and cool.

GREENSBORO—River 6 feet 7 inches and falling. Fair and cooler. Columbia down Thursday and Woodward up.

WARREN—River at low water mark. Fair and cooler.

LOUISVILLE—River rising; in canal, 6.5 feet; on falls, 4.3 feet; below locks, 11.5 feet. Clear and pleasant.

STEUBENVILLE, O.—River 5 feet and falling. Clear and warm. Down—Kanawha, 11 a. m.

WORK STARTS ON NEW PARK.

Coney Island Promoters Put Large Force on the Ground.

The promoters of Coney Island amusement park have put a large force of men at work cleaning up that section of Neville Island which will be used as a park for the company. The beach is being leveled and graded, as the intention is to get this into shape at once. Contracts are being let for the numerous buildings and work is to be rushed as long as the weather will permit. The intention is to have the new park opened by May 1. Capt. John F. Klein of the Klein line, is looking after a couple of new boats which will be put into the island trade next season.

The new steel gates are being put in at Lock No. 6, in the Monongahela, and will be in operation within another week or ten days.

The only boat at the wharf yesterday was the Columbia, from Morgantown. She left at her usual time yesterday afternoon.

The towboat Dilworth struck a snag with a tow of empty barges at the coal works, opposite Charleroi, Tuesday, and sunk one piece.

The towboats which left here on the recent rise for Cincinnati have started back with empties and will come up the river as far as possible on the present water.

ALLEGHENY SOLONS INDULGE IN SARCASM

Both Director McIlvain and the City Treasurer Are Objects of Caustic Comment.

Several displays of temper enlivened the meeting of Allegheny select council yesterday afternoon when that body met after a month's idleness. Chairman Francis J. Torrance was ill and John C. Oliver took the chair after Mr. Torrance went home.

John W. Robinson of the Fourth ward started the trouble when he spoke strongly against the passage of an ordinance authorizing the mayor and the director of public works to enter into an agreement for the collection of waste paper and other litter. Mr. Robinson wanted an amendment to the effect that bids for the contract be advertised for 15 days before bids were opened, or that the contract be sold to the highest bidder at public auction. Richard Armstrong of the Fifteenth and George J. Geltz of the Seventh ward, concurred in this proposal. While Mr. Robinson fought for the change his brother, Andrew L. Robinson, city treasurer, sat beside him and urged him on. This rattled Morris Einstein, who remarked:

"I should like to be informed as to who is the select councilman from the Fourth ward, the city treasurer or his brother, who was elected to represent the ward. One of them should retire from the chamber."

The ordinance was passed with three dissenting votes.

Then John T. Bealor gave vent to some sharp criticism on the elevation of Ohio street, Western avenue and the West park, which is in progress, incidental to the Pennsylvania railroad improvements. Mr. Bealor was objecting to the measure introduced for Director McIlvain providing for the employment of a supervising engineer to install a new manifold system at the Montrose pumping station. McIlvain showed his displeasure and declared excitedly that he had chosen a competent man for the work.

"The engineer you have selected might superintend the work all right, but this piece of bungling," said Mr. Bealor, pointing to the printed ordinance on his desk, "can only be equalled by a certain engineering feat that is being enacted at the present time. I move that this ordinance be referred back to committee."

The measure was sent back to committee.

Ordinances fixing the salaries of the assistant plumbing inspector and the assistant building inspector at $1,500 annually were considered. The former was passed finally and the latter sent back to the finance committee.

An ordinance was introduced providing for the widening of Stockton avenue between Federal street and Union avenue to a width of 55 feet.

WEST VIEW'S BEAUTIES.

Handsome Souvenir Issue of the Bulletin Devoted to the Interests of the Progressive Borough.

In a handsome souvenir issue devoted to the industrial and civic interests of the borough of West View and vicinity, the "West View Bulletin" this week, with type and cuts, sets forth all there is to recommend the new suburb to prospective home builders. This industrial number tells of the climate and environment of which the borough boasts, and describes thoroughly everything there is to be said of "the place without smoke." It contains excellent pictures of the borough officers, model homes and sections of the improved and unbroken land within the borough limits, besides displaying advertising material that bespeaks the aggressiveness of the new publication.

The editorial departemnt is not overlooked and contains several columns of reading matter devoted principally to topics of live interest to the residents of West View. Besides this there are some very good contributions that relate to home building and the manner in which the borough is managed. The issue is indicative of the progressive spirit of a most progressive new suburb.

It contains valuable information concerning the location and value of building lots in all parts of West View and data and pictures of the street car extensions between the borough and Bellevue.

FRENCH SWINDLER WILL APPEAL TO PRESIDENT

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Romaine Daurignac, brother of Therese Humbert, today announced that he had taken steps to appeal to President Roosevelt in an effort to prevent his deportation because he had served a term in a French prison for his connection with an alleged insurance swindle in France. His return to France was fixed for tomorrow. He engaged legal counsel today.

SECURE CONTROL OF THE COMPANY

National Car Wheel Passes to James D. Rhodes and William F. Bonnell.

HAS A PLANT IN PITTSBURGH

The control of the National Car Wheel Company has passed into the hands of James D. Rhodes of Pittsburgh and William F. Bonnell of Cleveland. The deal has just been consummated and the new interests have assumed the management.

This company owns and operates four plants: One at Pittsburgh, one at Cleveland, one at Sayre, Pa., and one at Rochester, N. Y. Its product is cast iron chilled car wheels, steel-tired wheels, gray iron castings, aluminum and brass castings. The works have an annual capacity of 300,000 wheels.

The officers now are: James D. Rhodes, president; C. A. Otis, Jr., and William F. Bonnell, vice presidents; George P. Rhodes, treasurer, and C. A. Maher, secretary.

The directors number nine and are: James D. Rhodes, Pittsburgh; George P. Rhodes, Pittsburgh; C. V. Slocum, Pittsburgh; J. C. Holt, Grand Rapids, Mich.; C. A. Otis, Jr., Cleveland; C. A. Maher, Cleveland; William F. Bonnell, Cleveland; W. T. Goodnow, Sayre, Pa., and C. T. Chapin, Rochester, N. Y.

C. T. Chapin, the former president, remains with the company in a special capacity, with headquarters at Rochester, N. Y.

The directors formerly on the board who have retired are J. R. Burnett, H. C. Smith, Frank D. Russell, B. R. Robinson and F. Wickes.

The National Car Wheel Company was incorporated under the laws of New York, September 22, 1903. Its outstanding capital stock is $753,409.7 per cent cumulative preferred, and $1,304,800 common. Its bonded debt is $404,000 first mortage gold 6s.

PERJURY IS CHARGED.

H. M. Bouland Says Jacob Steinberg Swore Falsely in Judicial Proceedings.

Jacob Steinberg, of Fourth avenue and Grant street, was arrested yesterday on an information made by H. D. Borland, charging perjury. It is alleged he perjured himself in the judicial proceedings now pending in common pleas court No. 2. The case is that of the First National bank of Duquesne, Pa., vs. Steinberg, in which Steinberg, it is said, made a statement denying that he was indebted to the bank in the sum of $500.

He admits the delivery of a promissory note for that sum, but denied that it was delivered for a valuable consideration, and asked that the suit be dismissed and the amount be collected from the parties responsible. This suit was to have been tried at the October session of court, and Borland alleges that the statement of Steinberg is false and is perjury. Steinberg furnished bail in the sum of $1,000 for a hearing on Saturday, at 11 o'clock a. m.

POLICEMAN'S VICTIM DIES OF HIS WOUNDS

Michael Kuharchik, who was last week shot at a Slavish celebration in Wilmerding by Chief of Police James McNally of Turtle Creek, died yesterday at the McKeesport hospital. McNally has been held by the coroner, pending an investigation into the cause of the victim's death. The shooting occurred while McNally and Policeman Miles O'Reilly were arresting two men who had caused a disturbance at the celebration. The Slavs assaulted the officers and fired several shots, when, it is alleged, McNally turned and fired in self-defense, mortally wounding one of his pursuers.

THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY IS OPEN FOR THE WINTER TERM

The fall season of the Western Theological seminary was formally inaugurated yesterday with exercises in the chapel in Ridge avenue, Allegheny. The Rev. Dr. David Gregg, president of the school, presided, and all members of the faculty were present. The Rev. Dr. Henry D. Lindsay read the scripture lesson, and the Rev. Dr. David S. Schaff delivered an address on "The Sacramental System of the Medieval Church. Twenty-three students matriculated yesterday and several more will enter before studies are taken up tomorrow morning.

BOY IMPRISONED FOR MURDER OF BROTHER

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Charles Done of Yancey county, aged 18, was placed in the penitentiary here today to serve five years for the murder of his 12-year-old brother. He was hunting with his brother, shot at a bird, missed it, and when his brother laughed at him he took aim at his brother and fired, blowing off the top of his head.

U. S. STEEL HAS TAKEN 35,000 TONS OF IRON

Merchant Furnaces May Sell 10,000 Tons More for September.

The United States Steel Corporation interests have in three lots bought 35,000 tons of Bessemer iron from the association of the merchant furnaces of the Mahoning and Shenango valleys and from W. P. Snyder & Co. The corporation is figuring also on a further order of 10,000 tons for this month's use, which may be placed at any time.

The above figures are authoritative. There have been many rumors of deals, most of them incorrect.

The price for all the iron was $15 at the furnace. This may be considered now a settled price for September, although there was much speculation until recently on the ability of the furnace owners to dispose of their product at that figure. The rapid development of the demand for the finished lines has steadily hardened the price of iron.

It is expected that the corporation will be in the market each month from now on indefinitely. Its finishing mills have orders booked which insure the operation of all but a few of the mills at their maximum capacity into next year. The furnace capacity of the corporation is not sufficient to provide for such demands for steel.

The October purchase may be arranged before the end of this month. It is not known how much will be needed, as the presidents of the companies which receive the iron have not all sent in their requisitions.

I MARSHALL GETS NO BAIL.

Alleged Insurance Embezzler Unable to Get a Bondsman for the Sum of $10,000.

The attorneys for Arthur C. Marshall, the alleged fire insurance swindler, after hearing Judge James R. Macfarlane suggest $10,000 as the amount for their client's bail, withdrew their motion for a bondsman and asked that his case be brought to trial as soon as possible. Attorney Elmer W. Moore, representing Marshall, stated that if the bond was fixed at a reasonable figure he would be prepared to meet it.

Attorney F. L. Kahle, representing the persons insured in the companies, interrupted by saying that the charges against Marshall may represent only a small portion of the amount he is alleged to have embezzled. He stated that $2,000,000 insurance was written, and of this amount every cent of the premiums was taken. Marshall was taken back to jail when Judge Macfarlane suggested that $10,000 would cover the amount of his bail.

FOURTEENTH REGIMENT MEN WILL OBSERVE FIELD DAY

The commissioned and non-commissioned officers of the Fourteenth regiment, N. G. P., will hold their annual field day exercises at the Salt Works rifle range tomorrow. Beside the field staff and line officers of the regiment, all the officers on the brigade, division and the general staffs in Western Pennsylvania have been invited to participate. The shooting at targets will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning. There will be luncheon at noon and more shooting. There will be more luncheon in the evening. Capt. George B. Shields, inspector of the rifle practice of the Fourteenth, will have charge of the ceremonies.

GOES TO CONCLUDE NAVAL ARMISTICE

GUNSHU PASS, MANCHURIA, Monday, September 18.—Rear Admiral Jessen left Vladivostok September 16 on board the armored cruiser Rossia, accompanied by the protected cruiser Bogatyr and two torpedo boat destroyers, to meet Rear Admiral Kamimura, the Japanese commander, and conclude the naval armistice. A party of seven scouts who passed out of the Russian lines near Mallunchzen recently, were ambushed by the Japanese and all of them were killed.

Four Transfers Refused.

The license-transfer applications of Bigley & Cunningham to Bigley & Schwartz, 310 Ferry street; John E. Kerr to Frank Meridith, McKeesport; John M. Koegler to Frank Studmiller, Jefferson township, and John C. Drew, who wished to change his location from 421 to 423 Carson street, heard before Judge Shafer on Saturday, have been refused. The transfer of the license of former Assistant Superintendent of Police Thomas D. Malone to August and George Korta, 2008 Bedford avenue, was granted.

Epworth Leaguers in Convention.

At the Methodist Episcopal church, Coraopolis, last evening, the annual convention of the Epworth league of the Pittsburgh conference opened with over 200 delegates present. An address was delivered by the Rev. Dr. W. L. Davidson of the American university, Washington, D. C. Routine business took up most of the evening, and after this the women of the church served a lunch.

MISS ROOSEVELT LUNCHES WITH EMPEROR OF KOREA

The Ruler of the Hermit Nation at Table for the First Time With Foreigners.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SEOUL, Sept. 20.—The emperor for the first time during his reign lunched with foreigners today, first giving an audience to Miss Alice Roosevelt and Rear Admiral Train. American Minister Morgan escorted Miss Roosevelt to the banquet hall, where they sat with the crown prince and imperial princes, and the other members of the party were distributed at small tables with members of the ministry and generals of the army.

The emperor toasted the daughter of the president and Minister Morgan replied for Miss Roosevelt, wishing long life to the emperor.

After the luncheon, which consisted of native foods, Miss Roosevelt received the Korean cabinet and other high officials.

AMERICAN CONVICTED BY NICARAGUAN COURT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The state department was informed today that the Nicaragua court in session at Ocotal, in the province of Segovia, has convicted William S. Albers, the American resident agent at Jalapa, of the Port Limon Company, on the charge of resisting legal processes and insulting President Zelaya. Sentence has not yet been imposed. A diplomatic inquiry will be made.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained, by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

OUR little book giving the revised story of the goose that laid the golden egg is being read and sent for more than any other literature that we ever published. It gives explicit information as to just what the opportunity at East Bellevue is.

But the chief difference between our goose and the goose of the legend is that our goose has laid more than one golden egg. It has laid hundreds of golden eggs and will lay hundreds more.

Every lot purchaser will find this out to his or her complete satisfaction, and also that there is money in every egg—money that will grow, just as surely as the money that was put into Bellevue real estate has grown and continues to grow.

One thing in particular which will help it to grow is the fascinating truth that East Bellevue is out of the smoke zone. Neville Island's blast-furnace clouds will never reach the summits of East Bellevue. That's a point which everyone agrees admits of no argument.

Many of the best people living below Lincoln Avenue in Bellevue, and at Avalon and in the Eleventh Ward of Allegheny, have bought large pieces of East Bellevue, and others have signified their intention of doing the same. Not a few have stated that they would immediately put their homes on the market, with the ultimate intention of moving to East Bellevue.

When one hears solid citizens talking like this there must be some good reason for our claim that East Bellevue is a perfect location. Yes, more than a perfect location. A money-maker for every mortal soul that buys any part of it.

SOCIETY

INVITATIONS were issued some time ago for the marriage of Miss Margaretta Johnston, daughter of John T. Johnston, and Dr. John DeVinne Singley, to take place at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening. The marriage will be solemnized at the residence of a brother and sister-in-law of Miss Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Johnston of Rebecca street, with whom the bride elect and her father make their home. The Rev. Dr. Robert M. Russell, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, will be the officiant and attending the bride will be a niece, Miss Marguerite Hall, as maid of honor; two other smaller nieces, Miss Louise Johnston and Miss Doris Hall, as flower maidens, while the ribbon bearers will be little Miss Virginia Hall and Norwood Johnston, Jr., a niece and nephew. Dr. Singley will have Dr. S. S. Simpson as his best man. Days at home after November 1 in North Highland avenue have been announced by the bridal couple. Dr. Singley is a member of the staff of the Pittsburgh hospital. The rehearsal for the wedding will take place on Monday evening.

Dinner Followed by Euchre.

The dinner which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pugh Johnston gave last evening was followed by six-hand euchre. The affair was conducted at the Johnston home at Northumberland and Wightman streets, Squirrel Hill, in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Miss Eliza M. Johnston, a daughter of the host and hostess. Single stemmed American Beauty roses were distributed among the guests as favors and as decorations there were clusters of scarlet sage. Covers were laid for 21, the guests including Miss Johnston, Miss Lillian Slater, Miss Edna Dice, Miss Florence Carhart, Miss Agnes Bragdon, Miss Annie Kremeir, Miss Bertha Kremeir, Miss Adeline Succop, Miss Eleanor Succop, Miss Bertha Johnston, Harmer Scully, John McCartar, William Wiggins, Chase Carhart, Harry Succop, James H. Johnston, James D. Fulton, Mr. Zuver, Charles H. Johnston, Harry Phillips and Huber Harper.

Pittsburghers at Eastern Wedding.

A. M. Stewart of Thomas boulevard, East End, will leave on Saturday for New York city to attend the wedding of his niece, Miss Alexandra M. Stewart, and W. W. Plankinton of Milwaukee. The wedding is dated for 12 o'clock noon on Wednesday, September 27, in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York city, followed by a reception at the St. Regis. Miss Stewart's grandmother, Mrs. M. S. Woodward, and a cousin, Miss Elizabeth Stewart, also of this city, are now in New York, where they expect to remain until after the wedding. They have been at Bedford Springs since the early part of the summer. Mr. Plankinton will take his bride to Milwaukee to live. She is a daughter of J. G. Stewart, formerly of this city, but now of New York.

Schofield-Larimer.

BELLEFONTE, PA., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—At the residence of ex-Representative James Schofield at high noon today, his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Schofield, was married to Charles Larimer of Clearfield, manager for the Huntingdon and Clearfield Telephone Company. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John A. Wood, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church. The bridal party consisted of Mrs. Lee Larimer of Jersey Shore, matron of honor; Miss Nannie Schofield and Jillian S. Waller, bridesmaids, and Miss Eleanor Parker, flower girl. William G. Patterson of Clearfield was groomsman. After a brief wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Larimer will take apartments at the Hotel Windsor, Clearfield.

First Tea in a Series.

Mrs. Charles M. Thorp of Maple avenue, Edgewood park, is planning a series of informal teas, the first of which will be given at her home from 3 until 5 o'clock this afternoon. The friends of the hostess will be divided into groups, one group to be entertained at each of the various teas in the series.

Going Away to School.

Oakmont will not send forth so many boys and girls to school this fall as in former years. Among those who will be numbered in the few are Miss Helen Crookston, who returned to St. Xavier's academy yesterday; Miss Annie Alexander, who will return to the National Park seminary in Washington, D. C., during the coming month; Miss Ruth Johnston, who begins her sophomore year at Wilson college; Miss Eleanor Laid, who enters Washington seminary, and Kerfoot, who enters Washington come a student at the Stanton Military academy.

Erskine-Adamson.

A quiet but interesting little wedding took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Erskine in Amanda street, Knoxville, the bride being their daughter, Miss Stella Erskine, and the bridegroom, James Adamson. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Frederick M. Gordon, pastor of the Knoxville Christian church, the bridal party including the maid-of-honor, Miss Amanda Erskine, a sister of the bride; Miss Ethel Adamson, the bridegroom's daughter, as flower girl, and Arthur Adamson, a brother, as best man. The bride's cousin, Miss Elsie Reese, played the wedding march. The bride was gowned in white embroidered Swiss, elaborately trimmed with valenciennes lace. A spray of orange blossoms fastened the long tulle veil and the bridal bouquet was of white roses. A gown of white silk and lace with pink sash was worn by the maid of honor, who carried pink roses, and the little flower girl, in a dainty white frock, carried a hat filled with pink carnations. Another touch of color was given by her pink sash. The decorations were carried out in simple fashion, a background for the bridal party in the parlor being formed of palms and long fronded ferns. Pink and white carnations were used on the bridal table in the dining-room. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wier, uncle and aunt of the bride, from Baltimore, Md. At the conclusion of their wedding trip, which they began last evening, Mr. and Mrs. Adamson will be at home in Curtain avenue, Beltzhoover, where at-home days for after October 4 have been announced. The bride is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Burleigh of Forbes street, Oakland.

Lyon-Holderbaum Wedding.

SOMERSET, Sept. 20—Miss Edyth Devoe Lyon and John Isaac Holderbaum were married in the First Presbyterian church this evening by the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Cameron of California, Pa., assisted by the Rev. R. W. Illingworth, pastor of the Somerset Presbyterian church. Miss Catherine Holderbaum, a sister of the groom; Miss Emily Miller of Somerset, Miss Helen Hartfrant of Philadelphia, and Miss Elsie Boggs of Confluence were bridesmaids, and Miss Helen Krise of Carlisle maid of honor. The groom's brother, Robert Holderbaum, was best man and Messrs. Howard Caldwell, Frank S. Lyon, John S. Miller and William Swank of Somerset were ushers.

Fennell-Hodgson.

Miss Daisy Fennell and Robert Hodgson, both of Greensburg, were quietly married last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brindley, 443 John street, Braddock. There were no attendants. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John J. Leberman, D. D., pastor of St. Luke's Reformed church. A wedding dinner was served to a few guests.

Borlin-Lampman.

Miss Elizabeth J. Borlin, daughter of Mrs. J. R. Borlin, 831 Hallet avenue, Braddock, and Harry Lampman of East Pittsburgh, were married yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother. Miss Daisy Jones was maid-of-honor, and John Bennett best man. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. P. Turner, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Guests were limited to relatives and a few personal friends. After the wedding dinner Mr. and Mrs. Lampman left on a tour of the lakes.

Gormley-Chess.

The marriage of Miss Edna P. Gormley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Gormley of Charliers, and J. Findley Chess of Greentree took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents in Steuben street. The Rev. E. E. Donehoe, pastor of the West End Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony. Mrs. George Shrode, a sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Will Chess, a brother of the groom, was best man. The couple left for the east on a late train, and on their return will reside in Crafton avenue.

Dinner for Bridal Couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. McElheny of Mellon street, were host and hostess at a charmingly appointed dinner last evening, their guests of honor being Miss Anna Charlotte Harmer and Charles H. McCracken, Jr., a bridal couple of next week. In addition to the members of the bridal party the guests included Mrs. Charles H. McCracken, Miss Elizabeth McCracken and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Close. Bouquets of gorgeously colored nasturtiums made effective decorations on the table, at which covers were laid for 12 guests.

Mrs. Davis Is Hostess.

There was no special guest of honor at the card party given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Arthur Vining Davis of Oakmont. In addition to three tables of six-hand euchre a "speculation party" was in progress, prizes for the former going to Mrs. Josephine Kirby, Mrs. John Crookston, Miss Morris and Mrs. Louise McClure, and for the latter to Mrs. Mellbye of Norway and Miss Bertha Clement.

Mr. and Mrs. Black Surprised.

The Pedro club, of which Mr. and Mrs. David Pollock Black are members, gave a surprise party last Monday evening in celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Black. The guests brought with them a handsome cut glass candelabra as a gift to the honor guests. Prizes in card games were awarded Mrs. George Page and Herbert Black.

In Honor of Her Daughter.

Mrs. Orlando Metcalf is entertaining as her house guest her daughter, Mrs. Daniel Hand of Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and in her honor will be hostess at cards this afternoon and at fancy work tomorrow.

Irwin-McBride.

FRANKLIN, Sept. 20.—(Special.)—John L. McBride, district attorney of Venango county, and Miss Mollie G. Irwin, also of this city, were married here quietly this afternoon.

VICTOR HERBERT NIGHT.

Every Number on This Evening's Expo Program Will Be from Pen of Great Composer.

Each succeeding concert given by Victor Herbert at the Exposition is more successful than its predecessor in point of attendance and enthusiasm displayed. Last night the ovation tendered the orchestra leader brought to mind the conquests of former years in Carnegie hall when Herbert wielded the baton before the Pittsburgh orchestra. The concert last night was made up from Schubert, Dvorak, Wagner, Berlioz, German and Herbert numbers. For this afternoon selections from Herbert, Auber, Verdi, Strauss, Balfe, Von Blon, Burgmein, Massagni and Massenet are on the program. Tonight will be "Victor Herbert night." Every number on the program is from the pen of Herbert. Today is the fourth of the excursion days at the Point. Last Thursday over 10,000 attended the Exposition during the day. Following are the programs for this afternoon:

A BIG NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE

An Entirely New Feature in Newspaper Methods Now Being Exploited.

Something new in journalism is being done by the Index, Pittsburgh's illustrated weekly. Never before in this city have old-established firms loaned the prestige of their names to a newspaper enterprise. The Index has certainly made a ten-strike in associating with its $7,000 premium contest such concerns as McCreery & Co., Kaufmann Bros., Rosenbaum Co., Horne-Stewart Co., S. Hamilton Co., Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music, Martin's Shorthand School and the Berlitz School of Languages.

In addition The Index offers one cash prize of $500 and several others aggregating $400. One of its most attractive offers is to send one of the winners (who also can take a companion at the expense of The Index) to Washington, Philadelphia, New York and an ocean trip to the West Indies, the whole trip consuming 30 days.

Nearly one hundred candidates have already been enrolled. The Index issues a handsome booklet on the contest, which can be had upon application.

New Officer for Auxiliary.

The woman's auxiliary of St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal church, Wilkinsburg, held its second monthly missionary tea yesterday afternoon in the church rooms, Pitt and Rebecca streets. An entertainment followed the business session, at which Miss Orin Watking resigned as secretary and treasurer and Mrs. E. F. Kean was elected to fill the vacancy.

Insurance Man Is Injured.

While lying on a bed examining a revolver, J. A. McDonald, an insurance man of this city, accidentally discharged the weapon, the bullet inflicting a dangerous wound in his left breast. The accident occurred while his wife and child were eating dinner. The bullet passed through the upper part of his chest.

Wimodausis Outing in Luna Park.

The pavilion in Luna park was crowded yesterday afternoon for the euchre which the Wimodausis club gave. One hundred and fifty tables were placed about the enclosure and the friends of the clubwomen surrounded them and played for the handsome prizes which were awarded at the close of the afternoon. There was an unusual demand for tickets for the euchre and the dance which was given in the evening, and it is estimated that there were fully 2,000 people, patrons of the club entertainment. It was one of the most enjoyable and successful affairs ever given by the Wimodausis.

Club Women Coming Home.

Mrs. Anthony W. Smith, Jr., and her mother, Mrs. Jane A. Hall, came home on Saturday from Chautauqua, where they had been spending a number of weeks.

On Tuesday of this week Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Wade came down from Chautauqua, where they have been since returning from California in July. They went at once to New Brighton, where they will spend several weeks, on their return to Pittsburgh going to Hotel Lincoln and late in the winter leaving for the south.

Dinner to Retiring Supervisor.

Clifford B. Connelly will be the guest of honor this evening at a dinner to be given by the teachers of industrial arts in the Allegheny schools. The dinner will be served at 7 o'clock in the dining-room of the Fifth ward school, Page and Manhattan streets, Allegheny. Mr. Connelly is the retiring supervisor of the industrial work in the Allegheny school, having recently accepted an important position with the Carnegie Technical schools, having been made the head of the department of apprentices and journeymen.

THE COMING SHOWS.

There Will Be One Novelty and Much Musical Comedy in the Playhouses Next Week.

"Babes in Toyland," the musical extravaganza at the Nixon next week, is a most elaborate production. It is divided into three acts with nine complete changes of scene. It will be remembered that the costuming is most gorgeous and in perfect good taste, as are all of Julian Mitchell's productions.

The fact is strongly in evidence that the merriest of all English musical comedies, "The Earl and the Girl," has scored heavily in Pittsburgh. Despite weather, which has been hot enough to deter the most enthusiastic amusement seeker from entering the theater, the Belasco has been crowded at every performance. Eddie Foy himself has never appeared to quite as good advantage as he does in "The Earl and the Girl."

Charles E. Grapewin, who made such a tremendous hit last season in "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp," will open at the Alvin next Monday. He is appearing in George V. Hobart's American comedy, done with music, called "It's Up to You, John Henry," and it is said to be the funniest thing this popular comedian has yet given us.

The "human staircase" scene in the new melodrama, "Queen of the Highbinders," which is booked at the Bijou next week, is one of the many clever things in this highly interesting play. It is a thriller from start to finish, though it never borders on the ridiculous, every situation and climax having some particular bearing on the plot.

Booked in the Empire theater next week, beginning Monday evening, September 25, will be the new melodramatic play, "The Shadow Behind the Throne." While the play is written on the melodramatic order it is said to be very much above the melodramas of the present day type. It is the work of two Americans who have gained considerable note by their successful plays produced on the other side of the Atlantic.

At the Gayety theater next week the Transatlantic Burlesquers will present inside new and up-to-date show. With everything new in costumes and burlesques and a fine olio, this attraction is better than ever before.

The Brothers De Van, with their marvelous trained dog, offer one of the newest things in the way of an acrobatic specialty in the Imperial Burlesquers' olio this season. John A. West, the musical brownie; the Leland quartet and Bessie Taylor, contralto vocalist, are also some of the main attractions. The Imperials come to the Academy next week.

No other creation of the piano builder's art is comparable either in construction or in the perfection of results to the Steinway Piano. Its marvelous liquid flow of sound—the exquisite merging of tone into tone, yet withal the perfect quality and truth of every note—makes the Steinway the idol of all great artists. Not only as the choice of the masters of music, but as the official preference of the Sovereigns of Europe are universally acknowledged to be the standard pianos of the world. In the Vertegrand are embodied the fundamental attributes of touch, tone and mechanism that make every Steinway a perfect medium for instrumental interpretation, together with some points of superiority peculiar to itself. Musicians and experts unanimously pronounce the Vertegrand the greatest achievement of modern progress that has ever come to their notice. Its beautiful simplicity of construction and design enable us to offer it at $500—the lowest price for a new Steinway in thirty-five years. The Miniature Grand is the smallest of the Steinway Grands—as small as a grand piano should be to retain compass and power. Price $750.

BRADDOCK SHUT OUT BY PIRATES

Largest Crowd on Record Sees Charley Case Strike Out 13 Husky Batsmen.

WAGNER GETS A RECEPTION

Pittsburgh won a pretty game from Braddock yesterday at Edgar Thomson park, in the presence of over 4,200 people, by a score of 3 to 0. It was the greatest crowd that ever witnessed a game in Braddock, and it was one of the most interesting contests ever seen at the park. Pittsburgh went out with a line-up that looked like business, and the rooters loudly voiced their pleasure when Wagner appeared on the field. It was more than they expected, and they greeted the big shortstop accordingly. Fred Clarke sat on the players' bench in street clothes and watched the Pirates' performance.

Cushman pitched for Braddock and was in fine form. He struck out six of the Pittsburgh players, including Wagner, Clymer and Brain. The first time Hans came to the bat he fanned the air. It was a thrilling moment and the Braddock outfielders were out so far that they looked like mere specks from the grandstand. When Wagner fanned out there was a strong anti-climax. Four of the seven hits made off Cushman were flies that should have been gathered in by the Braddock outfield. The field was heavy and the fielders were out too far looking for home run drives.

Case was in the box for Pittsburgh, and he fanned 13 of the Braddock boys, Braddock making only three hits off his delivery, all the men suffering from hard luck. Keller made a drive that would have been good for two bases, but it hit a few inches from the foul line in left field. Porter made a smash against the left field fence not six inches away from the foul line, and it was a hit that would have brought in a run, as Crum was on base. Brisbine made two of Braddock's three hits, the first a single and a two-bagger over the right field fence.

Braddock looked good to score in the fifth, when Porter singled and went to third on Brisbine's double. One man was down then and the next two were easy outs. Four men were left on base.

Pittsburgh scored the first run in the third. Ritchey singled and trotted to second when Gibson was hit by a pitched ball. Case bunted to the pitcher and got to first Ritchey being forced at third. Gibson reached second and came home on a single by Ganley.

In the fourth Pittsburgh scored on a fluke. Flanagan drew a pass and stole second. He went to third on a single by Wagner. Koch fled out and Brain struck out. Burke caught Brain's fly and Flannigan was held at third, but Burke made a wooden play, throwing the ball carelessly to Porter, who was not ten feet away. Porter was not looking for the throw and the ball rolled away, allowing Flannigan to score.

In the sixth Pittsburgh scored on a single by Clymer, who stole second, got to third on a wild pitch and was brought in by Wagner's single.

The Braddock fans were enthusiastic for both sides and Manager Tom McKim was well satisfied with the game his team put up against Pittsburgh. Attendance 4,273. Score:

Last Ball Games at Beanlown.

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Boston won the first game from Brooklyn 8 to 5 today, Dolan batting in three men with a three-base hit after Lewis for Brooklyn had scored three runs by a hit over the fence. The second game was called after eight innings on account of darkness with the score 1 to 1. A. H. Soden, president of the local club since 1876, witnessed what were probably the last games he will as owner see the Bostons play on the famous South End grounds. P. V. Dunn of this city holds an option on the club which expires November 1. Attendance 1,235. The scores:

PIN KNIGHTS ON THE ALLEYS

The Mayer team, of the South Side section of the Allegheny County league, at a meeting last night changed its name to Senators. The following are the officers and members: Peter Mayer, president and captain; William R. Paulin, secretary and treasurer; Paul Edelman, substitute captain; Theodore Ruffennach, A. Mayer, John Bergman, Ed J. Bergman, P. W. Lascheid, Joseph Hoebler and John Miller. The Senators will use the St. Vincent alleys as their home alleys. Messrs. J. Bergman, Lascheid and Paulin were appointed as a committee on uniforms. The Senators will appear in a neat, natty attire. They will strive to attain a respectable position in the race and will do all in their power to make the South Side section a success socially as well as in a bowling way.

Last night witnessed the close of the summer duckpin league at the Southern alleys on the South Side. The last game was between Scott and Pfeil against McRoberts and Hauck, the latter loosing the series and first place honors. Six of the games lost by McRoberts and Hauck were by two pins and one game by one pin, the team finishing in fourth place. Scott and Pfeil, by winning four of the five games, tie with Snyder and Feigel for first place, which will necessitate an extra series to determine the championship. Klingensmith and Stewart take third place. During the season some high scores were made. The individual high average for a single series was made by Pfeil, whose record is 166.6. The record for highest number of pins during the season of 35 games was made by McRoberts, who totaled 3,344, followed by Feigel with 3,229, Pfeil with 3,205 and Hauck with 3,186. The highest total of pins made by any two-men team was made by McRoberts and Hauck, who easily head all other teams but who failed to make a good showing in the race on account of losing games by one and two pins.

In the two-men team league, on the Federal alleys last night, Gardner and Logue took four out of five games from Miller and Pollock. Scores:

Miller	120	147	128	119	147—661
Pollock	156	153	149	158	154—770

TWO GAMES OF BALL BY THE PITTSBURGHS

The Phillies are here today to begin the last series of games. They will meet the Pirates in two games this afternoon, the first beginning at 2 o'clock. The extra game is one that was scheduled for Philadelphia, but was postponed on account of rain there on the Pirates' final trip to the Quaaker City.

Koch went home last night. If he decides to play professional ball he will rejoin the Pirates next spring.

Box tickets for the New York games next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday were received at Pratt's last night and are now ready for delivery.

President Dreyfuss is coming home from the seashore today to see the games with the eastern teams.

Braddock was happy last night because it beat Youngstown's record, in the game with Pittsburgh, and did it with Wagner on the field.

Lush Not Allowed to Pitch.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—The reinstatement of Pitcher John Lush to the local national league baseball club may mean a test of the recent decision to blacklist all players who left major league clubs to play outlaw ball. A dispute over salary caused Lush to leave the local National league club and play with the Williamsport team of the Tri-State league (outlaw) during the past season. Lush rejoined the local club on Monday and batted in yesterday's game. Today he was declared ineligible by the national commission, and it is believed a test case will be made.

George Dixon Knocked Out.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—Tommy Murphy, of New York, knocked out George Dixon, the former featherweight champion, in the second round at the National Athletic club tonight.

WALTER EAST TO JOIN WESTERN UNIVERSITY TEAM

Crack End Decides to Finish Study of Law at the Local Institution.

Walter East, the star end of last year's W. U. P. football team, is expected to soon join the squad now training at Conneaut Lake. East, who is now playing second base and managing the Akron baseball team, recently announced his intention of playing with Canton this fall while attending the Western Reserve to finish his study of law. A report from Akron, however, says he will re-enter W. U. P. and again play on the team.

The charge of professionalism was brought against East some time ago, but not in an official way. However, the fact that he played professional baseball this summer is not expected to hurt his chances of taking his place on the W. U. P. team.

Twing Brooks of Sewickley, captain of the Hotchkiss school baseball team last spring, will enter Yale next week. He played on the Hotchkiss football team last fall.

EDGEWOOD LOSES TO OAKMONT C. C.

Winners Capture Championship Golf Match, 18 to 0—R. L. Kester, Jr., Does Well.

C. B. FOWNES HAS A 35

The Oakmont Country club as foregone concluded defeated Edgewood Golf club in their Western Pennsylvania Golf association team match yesterday on the Edgewood course, 18 to 0. The playing of R. L. Kester, Jr., was particularly fast on the Edgewood side, holding W. C. Fownes, Jr., down to the margin of a single hole at the end of play and the latter had H. G. A. Ormiston and W. H. Duff II. were all even with five holes to go, which Ormiston proceeded to capture, having four 3s and a 4 at "George McPherson" was 2 down and 4 to go and brought the match all square. J. D. Duff played good golf, standing 1 up on H. C. Fownes at the turn. F. D. Steiner was also 2 and 2 to go with "Willie Anderson," but had a margin of 1 at the end of play, annexing the last two holes with a 4 and a 5. C. B. Fownes came home very fast, having a 35. SECOND DAY AT IMPERIAL FULL OF EXCITEMENT

A crowd of almost 10o people attended the second day's celebration of the first annual fair of the Allegheny County Agricultural association, being held at Imperial, Pa. The races are the chief attraction at the fair and without these there would be a very small attendance. No very fast speed was made owing to a heavy wind which blew down the home stretch. The race that made itself the most prominent of the day was the 2:35 pace. It took five heats to determine a winner. Summaries:

Running Races Near Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Horse racing with all the wagering attachments is to be resumed in the vicinity of Chicago on September 30. The Harlem Jockey club believes that it has found a way to circumvent the state's attorney's office, and tonight announced that a running meeting would be held at Libertyville, Ill., 30 miles north of Chicago, in Lake county, beginning on September 30 and continuing to November 1.

Good Shooting at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.—R. L. Trimble of Covington, Ky., today made the highest score for professionals at the shooting tournament of the Cincinnati Gun club, breaking 185 targets out of a possible 200. W. M. Foord of Wilmington, Del., was high man in the amateur shoot, breaking 182 out of a possible 200.

Eastern League Games.

EXTENSION WILL COST $1,000,000

Larkin Says Hamilton Avenue Improvement Will Treble Viewers' Estimate.

LOOKS OVER THE GROUND

"Instead of $316,000 the extension of Hamilton avenue will cost close to $1,000,000, and the question is who is going to pay for it? The city undoubtedly will have to foot the bill if the present award of the board of viewers stands," said Controller Larkin yesterday after making a personal inspection of Hamilton avenue and the district through which the extension of the avenue is to run.

"The route for the extension of the avenue is through valuable manufacturing property, business establishments and residence sites. The sum of $316,582, which has been estimated as the cost of the improvement, will not nearly meet the figures. Every property owner who is objecting to the amount of damages allotted them by the viewers have told me that they will appeal from the award. Every one claims that the amount allowed him is too small and by the time the court fixes the damages I predict that the cost will run up to $1,000,000 or near that sum."

The controller walked over the entire route of the proposed extension, from Fifth avenue extension to Penn avenue.

"If Hamilton avenue is extended it will come out in Penn avenue near the foot of Shady avenue near the bridge over the Pennsylvania railroad tracks," said the controller. "I admit that the opening of a new thoroughfare for the territory back of East Liberty is badly needed, and it will have to be made by the opening of Hamilton avenue or Kelly street, but I believe that the cost of the improvement should be distributed on the abutting property, which undoubtedly would be greatly enhanced in value by the extension of the thoroughfare.

"There may be a 'nigger in the woodpile' or some motive for not more generally distributing the benefits. The city should not be compelled to bear this burden, which will be an immense one. The estimated cost of $318,582 will fall far short of the total expense, and the $275,000, the amount assessed against the city, will be only a starter. I intend to think the matter over carefully before preparing my communication to councils."

Director Bigelow refused to state yesterday whether Controller Larkin's promised recommendations for the repeal of the Hamilton avenue ordinance would be antagonized by him in councils. The director said the matter would be carefully considered before anything was decided and that he would discuss the matter with the mayor and the controller. The director returned to the city yesterday, but did not call on the controller.

Fifteen Rounds to a Draw.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Sept. 20.—The fifteen-round boxing contest held here last night between Al Greenwood of New York, and George Gunther, colored, of Australia, went the limit. The fighters were to fight at 145 pounds, but the colored man was nine pounds overweight.

Over Half a Million

SATISFIED CUSTOMERS

Do you think such an enormous business could be built up and continually increased, if our goods did not have exceptional value and merit?

Do you think we could hold the trade of half a million people, if our reputation for doing exactly what we say wasn't firmly established?

Do you think U. S. Senators, Foreign Ambassadors, Bankers, Business and Professional men in every section of this country would keep on using HAYNER WHISKEY if it wasn't all right?

Do you think doctors would recommend it and hospitals use it, if it wasn't absolutely pure and unadulterated?

Just think these things over carefully and then send us a trial order. Your money back if you are not satisfied.

United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

"I have found Hayner Whiskey exceptionally fine for table and medicinal purposes."

Wm. M. Stewart.
U. S. Senator from Nevada.

Business Properties.

PENN AVENUE BUSINESS INVESTMENT.
We have several very desirable properties in Penn ave. that can be bought by a quick buyer for a lower price than any other in that locality. Investors and speculators have had their eyes on Penn ave. as far out as Twentieth st. for some time, recognizing the fact that very shortly it will be a business center, when all the land in that section will bring three times the price now asked. From a speculative standpoint, this part of the city is now by far the most attractive in view of quick and large profits.

PRICES REBOUND AND PROVE STOCKS SCARCE

Shorts Are Caught and Forced to Cover—Currency Movement Relieves Trust Companies—Local Market Strong, but Inactive.

Nothing in the news which became public yesterday would account adequately for the reversal of speculative sentiment from Tuesday's depression. But the rebound in prices was an effective demonstration of the resiliency of the market from pressure. It proves the assertion heard generally in the neighborhood of the stock exchange, that the floating supply of stocks is scarce and professional bear traders find difficulty in covering their short contracts. Considerable lines of shorts were put out Tuesday and the buying to get back these stocks probably was most responsible for yesterday's advance.

The market continues narrow and professional. The spectacular advances in a limited number of stocks is not convincing of a widespread demand in the market in general, and commission houses continue to complain that the outside demand is scanty. Holders cling to their stocks tenaciously, however, and nothing seems effective to dislodge holdings except the actual withdrawal of credit by which they are held. The immediate pressure on borrowers has become relaxed and the general outlook continues so favorable that further selling of stocks seems not to be expected unless the hardening tendency of the money market shall be renewed.

The course of the currency movement thus far this week makes it unlikely that the coming bank statement will show any notable shrinkage in the cash reserves, and the trust companies are therefore relieved, for the moment, from the call to take over loans from the banks in order to enable the latter to call down deposit liabilities to keep pace with the inroads upon their cash.

The sub-treasury's continued heavy debit balances at the clearing house have left a small balance to the advantage of the banks on the week thus far. Payment at the assay office for the first parcel of gold bars on the import movement, which arrived yesterday, figured in yesterday's sub-treasury debit balance. Next week will see the further arrivals of gold, which will serve to relieve, if not offsetting, the reserves. The rise in interior exchange on New York indicates the lessened demand of the interior on this center for the time being.

Foreign stock markets loosened to concede that the expected rise today in the Bank of England discount rate has been adequately provided against. Reassuring official statements regarding the Moroccan question relieved apprehension on that point. The New York market was in consequence freed from the pressure of foreign selling and this contributed materially toward allowing the recovery in prices.

The notable movements of the day were traceable to individual influences. Reports of important developments in the Northern Securities settlement were revived effectively in connection with the approaching annual meetings of the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific. The rise in that group of stocks stimulated some sympathetic strength in other high-priced railroad stocks. The notorious existence of an active speculative following in Reading was given most of the credit for the renewed spurt in that stock. The organized anthracite trade, however, broke in a very cheerful strain of the demand in that industry. The annual report of the Central Railroad of New Jersey was a help to that group. In the same way New York Central was aided by its statement of quarterly earnings. The revived strength of Canadian Pacific was due to reports of prosperous conditions which have served before to lift that stock.

Rates for foreign exchange rose decidedly away from the gold import point. Time money rates were called somewhat earlier, but call loan rates were held firmly at above 3 per cent.

Bonds were ll m. Total sales, par value, $2,570,000. United States 2s registered declined ½ on call.

A firm but not busy day was recorded on the Pittsburgh stock exchange. The total sales amounted to only 2,180 shares of stocks and $7,000 bonds. The most notable feature of the day was the sale of 100 shares of Allegheny Valley preferred at 40, which makes a new high mark by an advance of 6½ over the last sale.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred, on transactions involving 300 shares, went as high as 54½ and closed with a gain of ¾. Ohio Fuel, on sales of 39 shares, advanced ½. Sewer Pipe closed at the former figure, 33¾, after having reacted to 33⅝. United Copper common, on sales of 600 shares at 35, was down 1½. Westinghouse Air Brake also sold one point lower at 152. The bond sales were all of Independent Brewing 6s at the former price, 106⅞.

Standard Investment Bonds.

The Colonial Trust Company, No. 317 Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., has for sale a variety of bonds yielding the purchaser from 3½ to 6 per cent, which it recommends as desirable investments. Inquire of Alexander C. Thompson, manager bond department.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH

Market was firm, although inactive. Total sales were 2,155 shares of stock and $7,000 bonds.

Pittsburgh Coal advanced ¾ on sales of 339 shares.

Pittsburgh Oil and Gas advanced one point to 58.

Westinghouse Airbrake lost a point.

Allegheny Valley preferred made a new high mark of 40, an advance of 6½ points.

Bank exchanges were $6,819,739.45, a decrease of $215,000.

IN WALL STREET

Prices rebound strongly and market is active.

Total sales—stocks, 773,000 shares; bonds, $2,570,000.

Day's developments demonstrate that holders cling to stocks and that the shorts of Tuesday were forced to cover.

Special activity is shown by several groups, due to specific influences.

Imports of gold seem to have removed fear of money famine.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

To the criticisms which have become current in some quarters recently regarding the bona-fide character of the reported prosperity of the steel trade, an answer which is of the final nature has just been given by the United States Steel Corporation. This is its purchase from the merchant furnaces of the valleys of 35,000 tons of Bessemer iron for September delivery and the negotiations for 10,000 tons additional, as told in another part of this morning's Gazette. With this goes the certainty that there will be purchases in October and each month from now on so far as can be foreseen by the management.

When the Steel Corporation's business reaches a point at which it is from 25,000 to 50,000 tons a month short of its steel-making iron supply, there can be no doubt as to the activity of the finishing mills nor the pressure of the buying demand. The prices being obtained now are very profitable in nearly every line. There are no wake disputes of any significance whatever. The conditions are excellent.

Announcement is made also this morning of the change of control of the National Car Wheel Company, which has a large plant at Glenwood, formerly known as the Keystone Car Wheel Works. James D. Rhodes of Pittsburgh and William F. Bonnell of Cleveland now take the control and management. The company, in which there is now a larger local interest than ever before, has $751,000 preferred and $1,504,000 common stock outstanding. Its bonded debt is $494,000 first gold 6s.

The American Sewer Pipe board yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share, payable October 2 to stockholders of record September 23.

The Washington Trust Company opened for business yesterday morning in the room of the Washington National bank, Fifth avenue and Washington street. The trust company is allied with the national bank. It is capitalized at $125,000 and the officers are John G. Reilly, president; W. C. McElDowney and Capt. I. R. Whitaker, vice presidents; Robert C. Crow, secretary and treasurer.

Stockholders of Ohio Tonopah have received letters announcing that the company had purchased an option on the Logan ruling, located in the Comstock region, Nevada, near Como, and that the Logan Mining Company is being incorporated to take over the property. The Logan company will be capitalized at $500,000, the stock to have a par value of $5 a share. Fifteen thousand shares of the stock will be held in the treasury of and owned by the Ohio Tonopah Company; 100,000 shares will be held in the treasury of the Logan company, and 100,000 shares will be offered to stockholders of the Ohio Tonopah Company at 25 cents a share. All stock not subscribed for before October 7 will be taken by Ohio Tonopah directors. If oversubscribed, the stock will be allotted in proportion to the amount of each stockholder's subscription.

The syndicate managers of the West Virginia Central and Western Maryland Purchase syndicate give official notice of the termination of the syndicate and the final distribution. The syndicate formed under the agreement dated May 12, 1902, between Myron T. Herrick, Winslow S. Pierce and Edward L. Fuller, as syndicate managers, will be terminated on October 16 next.

The stockholders of the Hazelwood Savings and Trust Company will hold a special meeting on November 28 for the purpose of voting for a proposed increase in the capital stock and also on a proposed amendment to the by-laws to increase the number of directors. It was stated yesterday that the increase likely will be from $125,000 to $175,000. The new stock, $50,000, will probably be used in acquiring the $50,000 capital stock of the Hazelwood bank, it having been admitted that a merger of the two institutions is under way.

Following is the increase in estimated earnings, expenses and net earnings of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company, for the month of August, 1905, and the eight months ended August 31, 1905, compared with the corresponding period of 1904:

AUGUST, 1905.

Gross earnings	$ 277,345

BESSEMER PRICE IS FIRMLY FIXED

Closing of United States Steel Deals With Valley Furnaces Shows $15 Minimum.

GENERAL IRON AND STEEL NEWS

The firm establishment of $15 00 as the price for Bessemer iron at the valley furnaces has been accomplished during the past week in the deals made with the United States Steel Corporation by the merchant furnace operators.

Iron at this figure is not in the market for extended delivery and there is considerable talk of $16 00 iron before the year is over. If the demand upon the finishing mills remains as heavy as it has been for a few months past with the chances of relief that such a figure will be reached. At the same time there is a sentiment against allowing the market to go too high, lest the quotations freeze out some of the smaller buyers, who in the aggregate take the larger proportion of the output.

The number of new orders for finished material has not been so large for 10 days or so as in the month preceding. The reason for this is that as usual the orders came in a bunch and the capacity of mills in several lines, such as rails and structural shapes, is more than taken for the remainder of the year. One of the developments of this surplus of business has been the turning over to the Lackawanna Steel Company of orders for over 10,000 tons given to the Republic Iron and Steel Company. The Carnegie Steel Company is also said to have received orders for several thousand tons from the same source. The only reason stated for this is that the Republican can get $25 00 per ton for billets and finds this more profitable than $28 00 for rails. The activity in plates and bars remains very great. Sheet steel and tin plate mills are much more active than in August and there is every probability of higher quotations.

The demand for merchant pipe is good, and although the prices are at the bottom, there is still enough profit in the business to keep the mills at work.

With the higher quotations for oil, the price having advanced three times during the past week, it is probable that there will be an enlarged need of pipe, which will be reflected in orders. The higher prices will set to work many drillers who have been out of business since last winter.

The demand for coke has grown with the activity of the furnaces. Furnace coke, strictly Connellsville, has sold in some cases above $2 50. The ruling price is not far below that figure. For 72-hour Connellsville foundry as high as $3 25 has been paid recently.

The Hardware Market.

The hardware business, like all other lines of business, is moving along at a very lively gait, orders coming in freely from salesmen on the road and from the trade direct, and the demand covering practically all lines. Quite an active demand is on for nails and wire, owing to the recent slight advance, and owing to the fact that more advances seem likely to occur, the mills being unable to fill orders for certain sizes even now with any degree of promptness. Notwithstanding the summerlike weather, fall goods are moving out in good shape, in some cases second lots of stocks having been ordered forward, showing that the use of these goods promises to be very heavy for this season. Window glass continues to move about as heretofore, and it is probable that dealers who do not put their orders in for stocks now are liable to be left when colder weather comes. The condition of the market on general lines naturally brings a very firm condition as far as prices are concerned, a number of manufacturers insisting that a number of their lines will have to be advanced in order to give them a reasonable profit. The Hindley Hardware Company furnishes the following quotations:

Columbia pocket knives, discount 35 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount 40 and 10 per cent; Hindley canal shovels, $6 50 the dozen; Great Western files, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sheet iron, base, $25 00, $2 35 the 100 pounds; galvanized sheet iron, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sash weights, the ton, $44 00; window glass, first and second brackets, B single, 90 per cent off list October 1, 1904; all other sizes, single and double, 88 per cent off list October 1, 1904. For immediate acceptance only: Albion sewing machines, discount 25 per cent; blue and white enameled ware, 60 and 10 per cent; Albion hot plates, 40 per cent; Albion lanterns, 46 per cent; hay forks, 60 per cent.

BUYING RUSH SEEMS TO ANIMATE THE MARKET

Chicago Reports Large Transactions in Foundry Iron—Good Demand Is On for Bridge Material.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say of the iron and metal trades:

One of the characteristic buying rushes seems to be on in the pig iron markets, reports from all the leading distributing centers showing a heavy movement. Chicago reports large transactions in foundry iron, aggregating 25,000 tons. Cincinnati, Buffalo and Pittsburgh also note large sales.

It is estimated that the sales of foundry iron in the New York district, although individually none of them run above 2,000 tons, will foot up to 50,000 tons during the week. The greater part of this iron is for delivery during the last quarter of this year and the first quarter of 1906. Prices have stiffened.

Railroad buying is greatly in evidence in bridge material. The leading interest reports that there are in hand inquiries calling for 150,000 tons of fabricated material.

MARKET STILL STRONG; CRUDE STEEL IS SCARCE

Pig Iron Is Being Steadily Bought, With Prices Firm and Tendency Upward. Large Sale of Rails.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say:

The market continues fully as strong as it has been on such products as rails, plates and structural material, and on some products, such as sheets, pipe and boiler tubes, on which prices have been irregular and the demand limited, there is a noteworthy improvement.

The scarcity of crude steel is more pronounced. In Chicago forging billets are held at a minimum of $35, while for quick shipments $38 a ton has been paid for carload lots. In the Pittsburgh district one round lot parcel of steel is in the market for 5,000 tons. Consumers are unable to place orders to cover their requirements and there is no open market to quote.

While few large sales of pig iron are reported there is steady buying, with prices firm and tending upward. At Chicago inquiries aggregating nearly 75,000 tons, mostly for requirements of the first half of 1906, and embracing nearly every grade of iron, northern and southern, are pending. Iron is being shipped long distances to Chicago on the basis of $16 50 to $16 80, delivered in that city. There has been considerable buying of Lake Superior charcoal, one contract for 15,000 tons having been made by a Chicago car wheel interest.

The United States Steel Corporation has purchased 10,000 tons of Bessemer pig at $15, Valley, for late September delivery, and it is expected that the corporation will buy steadily during the remainder of the year. The southern market is stronger and sales below $12, Birmingham, are not reported. An advance by several large southern producers is expected. About 25,000 tons were sold by Cincinnati agencies the first part of this week. While it was not to be expected that the buying of rails would be continued at the unprecedented rate of the preceding two weeks, the tonnage placed within a few days has been very large.

Butter, Eggs and Cheese.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Butter barely steady, unchanged; receipts, 10,152. Cheese steady and unchanged; receipts, 5,355. Eggs firm and unchanged; receipts, 12,076.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—On the produce exchange today the butter market was steady; creameries, 17@20½c; dairies, 16½@18¼c. Eggs steady; at mark cases included, 17½c; firsts, 18½c; prime firsts, 20½c; extras, 22½c. Cheese steady at 11¢@11¼c.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—Cheese steady; New York full cream fancy, 12@12¼c; choice, 11¾c; fair to good, 11¼@11½c. Butter steady, extra western creamery, 22c; nearby prints, 22c. Eggs steady, nearby fresh, 21c at mark; western fresh, 20@21c dozen.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The market for coffee futures opened unchanged on steady cables and private advances from Santos pointing to a total current crop of about 10,000,000 bags. Interior depots were somewhat heavier, however, and with demand very light the market was barely steady during the middle session, with the close quiet and not unchanged to 5 points lower. Sales were reported of 31,500 bags, including September at 6.95c, October at 7.00c, November at 7.05c, January at 7.15c, March at 7.25@7.30c and May at 7.45c. Spot Rio quiet; mild steady; Cordova, 10@13c. Sugar—Raw flat. Fair refining, 3 1-16@3¼c; centrifugal 96 test, 3 11-16@3¾c; molasses sugar, 2 13-16@2¾c. Refined unsettled.

SUGAR MARKET MAKES NO GAIN DESPITE CUT

Flour Dealers Expect Another Reduction, While Cheese Promises Sharp Advance.

Slight advances in wheat yesterday stiffened up the flour market. At least it prevented a further reduction, although one is certain to come, according to the jobbers. They say the price should now be about the 35 mark, which would be decidedly less than present figures.

Sugar shows no gain, despite the heavy cut. Buyers refuse to get into the market for more than they need to carry them over from day to day, preferring to buy large quantities on a rising market than to suffer losses on a falling one.

Butter, eggs and cheese are firmer, particularly cheese. A sharp advance in that commodity is looked for about Friday. Eggs are firmer than they have been for several weeks and butter has a stronger tone. The cheese market is the only one which is expected to advance, however.

Green goods and produce were slow yesterday, as were fruits. There are plenty of consumers getting into the market now for bushel lots of fruits, and this is making business much better than it would otherwise be. Retail dealers, who complain much about the wholesale dealers selling to consumers, are inconsistent in that they do most of their buying during the summer season from farmers and thus force the selling at retail against which they complain. It is this retail selling which is keeping the life in the wholesale business just now.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts of hay and grain yesterday were: Pennsylvania—29 cars hay, 5½ cars oats, 2½ cars corn, 2 cars straw, 5 cars rye, 5 cars feed. B. & O.—4 cars hay, 1 car straw. Lake Erie—2 cars rye, 1 car oats, 1 car corn.

Little or no change was noted in the hay market yesterday. Good grades are readily disposed of while lower grades are dragging. Oats are scarce and continue to advance. Further advances are now improbable as billings are light. The balance of the market continues steady.

Advance in the Credit Balances May Result in Much New Work

Very few completions were reported from the lower southwest fields, and all small or dry. With the advance of the market operators are talking of starting new work and the only thing that stands in the way of a general revival in field developments is the scarcity of territory. The shallow sand districts, in Ritchie, Pleasants and Wood counties will be the first to show new life. The most that can be hoped for in any is the discovery of small pools or extensions to some of the old fields. The burning Springs district, Wirt county, holds out some inducements to operators and they will very likely take advantage of the higher prices offered for credit balances. In this district G. H. Mealy & Co. have completed No. 2 on the Nancy Hatch farm and have a 7-barrel pumper in the Big Injun sand at a depth of 1,360 feet. In the same district G. N. Grow has drilled his No. 9 on the N. J. Coplin farm through the second Cow Run sand and has a show for a very light pumper.

In the Wick district, Tyler county, the Melrose Oil and Gas Company has drilled its important test on the A. D. Arnett farm into the Big Injun pay and has a show for a 20-barrel producer. Near Hebron, Meade district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company has drilled its No. 12 on the M. Denning farm through the Cow Run sand and has a 10-barrel pumper in that formation. Near Downs station, Marion county, the Hart Oil Company has drilled its test on the Elizabeth Varner farm through the Gordon and has a small gusser. In the Smithfield district, Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 17 on the B. W. Peterson farm through the Gordon and has developed a light show of oil. The well is 634 feet, drilled deep. In the Fairbanks Timber Run district the Parker & Edwards Oil Company has agitated its No. 4 on the D. B. Fisher farm and increased its production to 140 barrels a day. In the Wallace district, Harrison county, the South Penn company has drilled its No. 4 on the M. Manion farm 40 feet into the strray and has developed a little gas. In the Fairview district, Marion county, the South Penn Oil Company, after a protracted fishing job at its No. 19 on the Haught-Walker farm, has decided to abandon the hole. This well was drilling in the top of the deep sand when the tools were stuck. The same company has at last recovered the tools lost in its No. 16 on the same farm. On Sugar creek, Meade district, Tyler county, Ellsworth, Davis & Trees shot their No. 5 B. L. Bultman farm, and it produced 150 barrels the ensuing 17 hours.

In the Hopedale development, on the Ohio side, in Harrison county, Joseph Loeb & Co. have completed No. 3 on the Victoria Cope farm and have a light pumper in the Berea grit. In the Berea grit development, near Benwood, Monroe county, the Fisher Oil Company has completed No. 3 on the John Duffy farm and has a show for a 10-barrel producer at a depth of 1,961 feet.

In Spring Hill township, Greene county, McGuffey & Tarrue have completed their test on the John Lohr farm, located on Fish creek, and have a 10-barrel pumper. In the Murdockville field, Beaver county, the Midland division of the South Penn Oil Company has completed a test on No. 2 lease on the John Cooley farm and has a very light gusser.

ERIE SECURES GREAT CENTRAL

Purchase of C., H. & D. System Announced by President Underwood.

WILL REPRESENT Y. M. C. A.

The Erie railroad has secured possession of the Great Central route. This announcement was made yesterday by President E. D. Underwood in New York after a meeting of the board of directors of the Erie Railroad Company. It thus becomes a portion of the Erie system, which will now operate and control more than 4,000 miles of railroad from New York to Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Chicago. The disposition of the Great Central to the Erie follows out one of the conditions of railroad men that this would probably be the disposition of it because of the Morgan & Co. purchase of the K. & T. last week from the Hoxie syndicate and a stroke of it. President Underwood made the following statement:

"At a meeting of the board of directors of the Erie Railroad Company today the purchase of a majority of the stock of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad Company was authorized. The method of financing the purchase was agreed upon and will be made known later."

The announcement sets at rest one of the railroad deals that has been discussed with keen interest in railroad circles of late. The deal was said to be the enlargement of the Erie system through its purchase of the system of the Great Central route. The Great Central is the consolidation of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railway, the Chicago, Cincinnati & Louisville railway and the Pere Marquette railroad, representing a total mileage of 1,561. The Erie railroad lines embrace about 2,183 miles, with 300 miles additional under control. Thus the whole system would have a total of about 4,125 miles.

No arrangement has been made regarding the operation of the lines secured by the Erie, but it is presumed that they will be rounded into one separate system. There will be two offices directly connected in the consolidation in Pittsburgh, these being the offices of the general agent of the Erie, D. L. Wells, and the confidential agent of the Great Central route, F. A. Brownell, and their respective forces.

New Wabash Ticket Agent.

H. C. Salmonson has been appointed assistant station ticket agent of the Wabash system in Pittsburgh and succeeds Mr. Bland, who resigned from this office to return to the agency at Deffiance, O. Mr. Salmonson arrived in the city yesterday and assumed his duties in connection with the office which is in charge of Ticket Agent John B. Muckle. Mr. Salmonson has had a very extensive railroad training, having been connected with the Erie railroad for a number of years. President Underwood made the following statement:

"At a meeting of the board of directors of the Erie Railroad Company today the purchase of a majority of the stock of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad Company was authorized. The method of financing the purchase was agreed upon and will be made known later."

Cigars from Slot Machines.

The New York Central & Hudson River railroad is experimenting with a new kind of slot machine, not one that will deliver candy or gum on putting in a penny and pressing the button, but one that will deliver a cigar for a nickel or a dime. Whether cigarettes will be included is not known, but if such machines were installed in Pittsburgh there is no certainty that coins would have to be placed in the machine for reaching the heart of the Pittsburgh smoker. The New York Central is trying the thing at the Union station in Albany and at the station at Syracuse, and if these prove popular, which will soon be determined, the cigar slot machines will be installed at almost all of the stations. A railroad man here said yesterday that it is hardly likely that such machines will be tried in Pittsburgh as cigars can be secured either in the stations or on the cars and that a slot machine would not be patronized.

Assurance to P. R. R. Stockholders.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—Referring to the report emanating from Chicago regarding the probable retirement of A. J. Cassatt from the presidency of the Pennsylvania, a prominent official of that company made the following statement:

"Mr. Cassatt was never in better health, nor ever stronger, physically and mentally. He was never more intensely interested in the vast works of improvement which he inaugurated, and it is his earnest desire to see the improvement pushed to completion before his retirement.

"The shareholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company may rest assured that they will enjoy the benefit of his ripe experience and great ability for many years to come. Any likelihood of his early retirement is absolutely without foundation in fact."

Traffic Men to Be Pittsburghers.

Two of the traffic men who have recently been placed in charge of the freight departments of their respective roads in Pittsburgh have decided to make Pittsburgh their home, instead of living in another city and merely being at home over Sunday. Thomas L. Painter, agent of the Lehigh Valley railroad, is spending a few days in Williamsport packing up his household goods preparatory to removing his home and family to Pittsburgh. The family will live in the East End. O. M. Ellsworth, general agent of the Rock Island-Frisco system, whose home is now in Cincinnati, expects to remove here for residence early in October. Mr. Ellsworth also will reside in the East End.

Baggage Car Next to Engine.

An order has just been issued by the Pennsylvania system calling attention to the rule for placing the baggage cars next to the engine in passenger trains, making the observance compulsory upon those who have charge of the make-up of trains, excepting where no turntables are provided. The order shows that the Pennsylvania officers are using every precaution for the safety of their patrons in travel. The order reads thus:

"In making up passenger trains no coaches or sleeping cars shall be placed next to the locomotive. In all instances a baggage car, whether the car is needed for baggage purposes or not, must be the first car of the train. This rule applies to excursion and regular trains. In the case of a combination baggage and smoking car the baggage end must be first. The only possible deviation from this order is on those divisions where no provision is made for turning trains at the end of a suburban run. This is the only time when an excuse will be accepted."

Local Men at Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

Pittsburgh will be represented well by its railroad branches of the Young Men's Christian association at the twelfth international conference at Detroit, September 8 to October 1. Friday evening, September 29, will be known as "Railroad Official Evening" in the conference, and addresses are promised by W. A. Patton, F. A. Delano, Russell Harding, W. C. Brown, W. A. Garrett and George W. Stevens, all of whom are widely known in the railroad world. The Pittsburgh railroad association will be represented as follows:

Pitcairn branch—General Secretary W. N. Callender, D. R. Northwood, W. C. Jones, P. Whitcamp, J. C. Neal and J. W. Taylor.

Twenty-eighth Street branch—Secretary B. F. Bickell, J. W. McKnight, Jacob Weidman, E. B. Small, H. A. Pietsch, C. A. Erb and G. W. Northwood.

Buffalo & Allegheny Valley branch—Secretary E. R. Gobrecht, W. J. Peebles, H. P. Burdick, John Allingham, C. P. Shade, C. R. Williams, W. G. Detweiler and John McCully.

McKees Rocks branch—Secretary E. J. Dunlap, W. McKee, S. D. Bates, A. B. Teel, C. J. Woods, H. C. Barr, Frank Forest and C. C. Strout.

Pennsylvania Employes' Christian association—General Secretary W. L. McFrederick (who will also represent the Conway branch), Secretary W. H. Mann, Alfred Hubnes and Fred Steigerwald.

Railroad Notes.

The directors of the Pennsylvania held a special meeting Tuesday to dispose of matters requiring immediate attention.

Frank M. Lockhart has returned to his desk as clerk in the general superintendent's office of the Baltimore & Ohio after a pleasant vacation at Buckeye Lake, O.

S. Y. Baldwin, commercial freight agent of the Delaware & Hudson, has returned from Toronto, where his wife has been ill at her home for some time. She is improving.

L. D. Taylor, chief clerk to the general manager of the Wabash railroad, formerly private secretary to President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., is paying a visit to his friends in Pittsburgh.

The veteran employes of the Philadelphia division of the Pennsylvania have organized a Veteran Employes' association, with Superintendent W. B. McCaleb as president. The charter membership is 165.

Among the visitors in Pittsburgh yesterday were C. A. Van Dusen, assistant superintendent of the Wheeling & Lake Erie of Toledo, and Trainmaster C. W. Miller of the Wabash lines of Rook. This was Mr. Van Dusen's first visit to Pittsburgh.

W. J. Leahy was yesterday appointed first assistant general passenger agent of the Rock Island, with headquarters in Chicago, and Hal E. Hay was appointed assistant general passenger agent, to succeed Mr. Leahy at St. Louis. Mr. Hay was general eastern passenger agent at New York. Both are well known to Pittsburgh traffic men.

WORK FOR LAWYERS ON NORTH SIDE

Property Owners in North and Irwin Avenues Propose to Collect Damages.

CHURCH DEAL IN EAST END

A bunch of lawsuits is almost sure to result from the improvements which the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad Company is making in the Second ward of Allegheny. When the railroad started to lower its tracks and abolish grade crossings it is said the city of Allegheny agreed to settle all damages claimed by abutting property owners. A number of these property owners near the North avenue crossing are now getting their plans laid for suits to be brought to pay them for the damages which it is alleged their properties have suffered. The tracks are being lowered at this point some five or six feet, and the grade of North avenue will be raised seven feet. This will necessitate the building of an approach from Buena Vista street along North avenue, and from Beech street along Irwin avenue. As the sidewalks will not be raised according to the present plans, the building of these approaches will leave the abutting properties in a hole, cutting off in part the view of those nearest to the railroad and greatly injuring all the lots both as to appearance and convenience. Some of the properties most affected are those of J. E. Penney, John J. Thompson, A. J. Armstrong, J. L. Kennedy, the Denny estate and the North Avenue Stair Company. The residences in North avenue were formerly among the best in Allegheny. Above the railroad there are three manufactories which claim that their business will be greatly injured by the approach to the railroad, and along Irwin avenue the Cyclorama building will be affected somewhat. Several of the owners have consulted attorneys and propose to make a hard fight for damages in the near future.

East Liberty Church for Sale.

Another East End church, the Christ Lutheran, at the southeast corner of Sheridan avenue and Palms alley, is soon to be sold according to a reliable report. The property consists of 200 feet at the corner named, with an L 300 feet running from Palms alley to Broad street. The church is a substantial brick structure. It is said the trustees have agreed on a price of $35,000 for the property, which is not unreasonable in view of its location midway between Broad and Station streets. The new Moreland livery stables are directly across the street, and an apartment house and one or two other good buildings are going up in the neighborhood. Owners of this site so near East Liberty are in excellent demand, and this one should go quickly.

J. R. Brown has purchased a farm of 61 acres at Logans Ferry, on the Allegheny Valley railroad, and proposes to convert the place into a model summer home. A landscape architect is now making the grounds, and Architect Edgar P. Hockert has been commissioned to prepare plans for a stone and shingle residence. By the new Brilliant cut-off the place is easily reached by train, and Mr. Brown's purchase of property there is another indication of the attractiveness of the farms in the Allegheny valley in the minds of Pittsburgh business men.

A. L. Reed and T. Berlin have closed the sale for Caspar Baltensperger to Dr. A. Rabinowitz of four brick houses of eight rooms each on the southeast corner of Webster avenue and Granville street, Eleventh ward, for $14,000. The lot fronts in three streets, 68 feet in Webster avenue, 99 feet in Granville street, and 68 feet in Enoch street.

Local Architect Is Chosen.

Architect Sidney F. Hockert has been selected to draw plans for a large Roman Catholic Monastery house in West Virginia. The group of buildings, which will cost at least $350,000, will include a big administration building, two houses for the Sisters, a chapel, power house and barns and outbuildings. A landscape architect is now getting the site in shape for the buildings, which will be started soon. Architect Hockert also has plans for the St. Mary's Roman Catholic church of Glenfield, Pa., which will cost about $12,000.

It is reported that The Pittsburgh Terminal Warehouse & Transfer Company will shortly begin the erection of a three-story brick addition to the main group of 40 warehouses which will be ready for occupancy shortly after January 1. The new building will be used for the storage of meats and produce. Over 1,200 men are now employed on the project, a large number having been started the last few days on constructing docks along the Monongahela river.

The attractive features of the Aspinwall-Dilliard property between Aspinwall and the proposed Allegheny park are being looked up by prospective home seekers nowadays, with the result that since last Wednesday the company has had a largely increased sale of lots. This allotment possesses one feature that very few plans in the Pittsburgh district can boast of—most of it is absolutely level. To a born Pennsylvanian this does not mar the beauty of the plan, for the wonderful scenery afforded on all sides of it makes him feel right at home while the man who does not have a hill climbing propensity is delighted with the prospect of a large level lot so near the river and the hills. The Aspinwall Heights property back of the long level stretch is to be improved later on in a way that will add considerably to the beauty and value of the lots nearer the river.

Real Estate Broker in "Gold" Luck.

C. Edward Keck of Keck, Helle & Daschbach, is back from a three-months' prospecting tour in California with a smile that portends all sorts of good fortune in the near future. Mr. Keck with about a dozen other Pittsburghers bought several gold mining claims in Inyo county, California, 70 miles from a railroad, and last July Mr. Keck was one of the party which went out to inspect the property. Shafts have been sunk and three shifts of men are now working. The Pittsburghers had their own assayer with them and the ore that they are piling up on the banks awaiting the installing of a milling machine is panning out from $35 to 40 a ton. This is what is known as "free milling ore" and as most of it was taken out before the main "lead" was reached the prospectors are jubilliant over the outlook.

The Columbia Savings & Trust Company at Fourth avenue and Smithfield street has selected M. H. Gottshall to manage its real estate department. Mr. Gottshall was formerly connected with the Mortgage Banking Company and later with the Savings Fund Loan Association. He is an experienced banker and well versed in real estate values and practices.

The Washington Trust Company started in business yesterday as an adjunct to the Washington National bank in Fifth avenue, which has the same directorate. The trust company expects to do considerable real estate business as soon as a competent manager can be secured.

Natatorium for the Hill.

The Hill district is soon to have a natatorium. Jacob Friedman will own it and expects to be able to open the building by October 20. It is being erected on a Denny leasehold, 40x100 feet, in Bedford avenue, above Logan street, opposite Washington park. A swimming pool, 30x40 feet, lined with glazed white tile, is being provided. There will also be Turkish baths, 20 shower baths and one large locker-room on the second floor. The building is being finished in the most modern manner and will equal in its general attractions any natatorium in the city.

Webster avenue—The Aronson-Friedman Company sold for H. M. Stein and William Cohen another of the George W. Rankin houses in Webster avenue, near Enoch street, to M. Sakolosky for $5,900. The lot is 18x60 feet and is improved with a substantial brick house. This is the fifth house in this row sold by the same brokers the last month.

Webster avenue—McKiveen, White & Co. sold for James White and others to Louis Meuzer 1901-1903 Webster avenue, near Granville street, two brick houses on 42x127 feet, for $8,000.

Bellevue—John A. Mirker sold to George T. McDonald 50x150 feet in Cedar street, Bellevue, for $1,500.

Devilliers street—The Aronson Realty Company sold to Mrs. Frances Donson a seven-room house on 15x60 feet in Devilliers street, near Wylie avenue, for $2,675.

Gidding street—The Diamond Real Estate Company sold for the Provident Land Company lot No. 108 in Gidding street, Twenty-third ward, for $350.

A. W. Mellon Buys a Lot.

Frankstown avenue—Andrew W. Mellon has bought from Mrs. Grace Negley an improved lot, 34x112 feet, on the north side of Frankstown avenue, extending through to Union street, Nineteenth ward, for $7,000.

Duff street—William S. Coe sold to the Commercial club of Pittsburgh an irregular-shaped lot measuring about 100x97 feet in Duff street, Thirteenth ward, for $4,000.

Millvale avenue—Theodore Vollman sold to Bridget Maher an improved lot, 25x115 feet, on the west side of Millvale avenue, Twentieth ward, for $7,500.

Webster avenue—Ralph H. Cooper sold to C. G. Filson an improved lot, 40x128 feet, on the north side of Webster avenue, Thirteenth ward, for $3,800.

Luna street—Thomas Lewis sold to Timothy Mulvehill an improved lot, 20x100 feet, in Luna street, Twenty-first ward, for $3,250.

Fulton street—W. E. Minor sold to S. Cardamore an improved lot, 11.5x80 feet, in Fulton street, near Bedford avenue, Eighth ward, for $3,400.

Sweetbriar street—N. R. Wishart sold to Peter Ahleper an improved lot, 24x125 feet, on the east side of Sweetbriar street, Thirty-fifth ward, for $2,500.

Etna hills street—Mary Stubbe sold to Joseph Hill 118x152 feet in Emahlia street, Twenty-third ward, for $2,300.

Tasso street—Alfred W. Wallis sold to James Miller an improved lot, 25x100 feet, on the northeast side of Tasso street, Twenty-third ward, for $1,500.

FINES AND SENDS WITNESS TO JAIL

Use of the Word "Liar" in Court Gets F. J. Fox Into Serious Difficulty.

CAPIAS FOR AN ATTORNEY

Because he did not like the questions put to him by the attorneys and the court, and was not slow to express himself in a manner derogatory to court manners, F. J. Fox, a witness, is languishing in the jail until he purges himself of contempt and pays a fine of $50. The case created considerable excitement about the court house, and when Fox was being searched in the jail he asked the attendants to see that it was published, so that all his friends would know where he could be found for the present.

Fox, who is an oil tool fisher, was called yesterday afternoon to give testimony before Judge McClung in the trial of the suit of the Woodland Oil Company for use of J. M. Gormly against A. M. Byers, an action to recover damages for alleged defective materials furnished. Fox was called by Attorney J. M. Stoner, for the plaintiff, and during the cross-examination by Attorney John S. Wendt the witness got angry at a hypothetical question and refused to answer, evading the questions. Mr. Wendt asked a question, to which Judge McClung added:

"I was about to ask the witness how myself," Fox would not answer, whereupon Attorney Wendt added: "You have been drinking, have you not?" This angered Fox, and he replied that he had not.

Judge McClung asked Attorney Stoner what was wrong with the witness, asking: "Is your witness intoxicated? If he is he should be severely dealt with." Mr. Stoner turned to Fox and asked him if he was drunk. Fox grew red in the face and told the attorney that the man who said he was drunk was a "liar." Judge McClung reminded Fox where he was, and Fox replied, saying: "I know where I am and I am not drunk either. You can give me 30 days to jail if you want to."

Mr. Stoner said Fox was conducting himself with great impropriety and should be severely dealt with. Judge McClung then made an order fining Fox $50 and costs and sentencing him to serve in jail 24 hours, or until he purges himself of contempt. He refused to get it his hat, and compelled the deputy sheriff to get it for him.

A capias was issued in common pleas No. 1 for the arrest of D. B. Maxwell, a member of the Allegheny county bar, in a suit for $5,000 for an alleged libel. Jo. H. Strode, who had the capias issued, says that Maxwell addressed a letter to the stockholders of the Colored Cobalt Mining Company, in which Maxwell stated that he, Strode, was no longer connected with the company, having been relieved from his duties because it appeared that the land misappropriated $5,000 of the company's money by obstructing securities from the vault and disposing of them in his own behalf. While Strode is not claimed, was illegally by Maxwell as general manager of the company.

The case of Frederick Metzgar, the young Baldwin township farmer, who is charged with a felony by the mother of Mary M. Neeper, a 14-year-old girl, was concluded after being on trial since Monday, but the jury had not agreed on a verdict when court adjourned. Among the witnesses called was Former Justice Elliott Rodgers, who was the trial judge when the case was heard a year ago, the jury disagreeing. Judge Rodgers was called to testify concerning the evidence given by the girl at the previous trial which, it was alleged, was not in accordance with her testimony on Tuesday.

Other cases disposed of were: George Moles, attempting criminal assault, convicted; Jacob Tarkow, carrying concealed weapons, pleaded guilty, sentenced suspended on payment of costs; Samuel Neely, misdemeanor, pleaded guilty; G. A. Boyle, embezzlement, pleaded guilty, sentenced suspended.

The Orphans court dismissed the exceptions of Miss Nettie McLean to the decision of Judge Hawkins, who decided that she was not entitled to any share of the stock of the Colonial Trust Company. The case had been reversed by the supreme court on the same question. Miss McLean claims about $52,000 worth of the stock. The contest was over 88 shares, claimed to be a part of the estate of the late J. A. Brown. The exceptions to Judge Hawkins' decision were argued last week.

Damages in $15,000 are asked by Isaac Cox, Sr., and Jane Cox, his wife, from the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railway Company. It is alleged that on November 21, 1904, the plaintiffs got on a train of the defendant company to go to Bridgeville. They were carried 300 feet past Bridgeville station, when the train was stopped to let them off. The place being dark Mrs. Cox declined to step down from the car, when a brakeman caught her by the arm and ordered her to alight. When she stepped off the car she fell upon a switch-post, lacerating her hip, ankle and arm. She says that she is still prevented from attending to her affairs.

The grand jury returned a true bill against Antonio Grande and Dominick Gutteria, for the alleged murder of Raffaiel Constible, at Port Perry on April 12.

Other true bills were: False pretense, Otto Vogt; felonious assault, Andrew Bloker, Joe Vallnck; larceny, Charles Meier, Bernard Rodgers et al, Clif Hawkins; larceny by bailee, C. E. Wilkins; attempted criminal assault, John Ewing; aggravated assault and battery, John McNelly, Peter Fritz two; assault and battery, Peter Levine, Thomas Berger, William Foster, Walter Lesser, Thomas Simbel; Boling Hour Illegally, C. D. McDrew et al, entering a building, Walter Rang, two; John Sullock; misdemeanor, Charles Kralz, Peter Scalatta, McCalla Arosen.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

How People Know How Useful It Is to Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the purest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better. It is not a drug at all. But simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels, it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptic in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I set more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."
